LAOS RIGHTIST AGREES TO COALITION MEETING

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — Rightwing Premier Prince Boun Oum told his cabinet today he will attend a meeting with pro-Communist and neutralist leaders Thursday to form a coalition government.

A government spokesman said the cabinet decided to send Deputy Premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan with him to the meeting, which may end the leftist-rightist civil war in Laos.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao delegation will be headed by Prince Souphanouvong and the neutralists by his half-brother, Prince Souvanna Phouma, widely expected to be the premier of any coalition government.

DOLLAR DEVALUATION

Canada 'Smeared' By Pearson—PM

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

THREE RIVERS, Que.—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker angrily charged Liberal leader Pearson with deliberately striking a blow at the financial integrity of Canada for purely political gain.

He levelled the charge when he addressed a crowd of over 2,000 here Tuesday, and vigorously denounced statements made Monday at Kitchener on Canada's dollar pegging policy by Mr. Pearson. The statements were "without truth whatsoever," snapped the prime minister.

He claimed the Liberal leader was making such statements because he and his party were becoming desperate in the campaign. They were now aware in the past four days—that they were losing the election, according to Mr. Diefenbaker.

"I don't care what a man says in political criticism, but to strike a blow at the financial integrity of Canada, internationally and nationally, is unworthy of any leader of a great party."

"Canada should not be smeared in this manner," he shouted. His voice carried over the noise in the Three Rivers Armories. The crowd had been "warmed-up" by advance speeches in French by Transport Minister Leon Bacher and Defence Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley.

CROWD RESPONDS

It was a hot evening. The temperature inside the building was well above 80 degrees. The prime minister spoke for 25 minutes, 10 minutes in French. The crowd responded to both his English and French with cheers and applause.

A typical French-Canadian political meeting, it was noisy, boisterous and full of fire. There were bands and marching majorettes preceding the speeches. Loudspeakers boomed the voices of the speakers into the streets where a crowd of around 400 tumbled to get into the jammed hall, milled around outside in the warm evening air.

The prime minister's charges against Mr. Pearson of "smeared" Canada.

OAS MEMBERS CAPTURED IN RAID ON HIDEOUT

ALGIERS (UPI) — French security forces raided a farm house 18 miles south of Algiers today and captured 17 members of the terrorist secret army organization.

The terrorist hideout was pinpointed by three OAS suspects arrested previously. The security forces found seven French army deserters among the 17 arrested, and picked up a small arsenal of stolen weapons.

While the OAS truce continued, police found two murdered Europeans in the Algiers suburb of Guyotville this morning. It was believed they were former OAS men who had been "executed" by the terrorist organization.

Jews Stone Fascists In Rioting at Rome

ROME (AP) — Italian police stationed reinforced patrols in Rome's Jewish quarter today after two nights of street fighting between Jews and fascists.

Six persons and several policemen were hurt in the skirmishes Monday night. Two more youths and five policemen were injured Tuesday night when authorities used tear gas to break up the scuffles.

The fighting broke out as Rome was in the heat of a municipal election campaign prior to voting Sunday.

Monday night two cars of campaigners of the Italian Social Movement, Italy's post-war fascist party, drove through the former ghetto, which still has many Jewish residents. Pedestrians halted the cars and fighting broke out.

Tuesday night the fascist party had an election rally across the river from the Jewish quarter. After the rally, six fascist-decorated automobiles drove across the Tiber and past Rome's synagogue. Young Jews stoned the cars.

Fascist circles claimed most of the Jews involved in the fights are Communists. Many of the Jews denied this, saying they were reacting as Jews against what they considered a fascist provocation.

Crash Kills Father, 3 Children

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A 30-year-old father and his three young children were killed early today in a grinding, two-car highway crash in nearby Surrey. Four youths in the other car were injured.

Leonard Douglas Knaggs of Surrey was driving with his three children, ranging in age from 18 months to six years, when the cars collided.

Mr. Knaggs was en route to pick up his wife, who was working in a cafe near the scene of the crash, police said.

Mrs. Knaggs accepted another ride when her husband failed to arrive at the cafe. She passed the wreckage of her husband's car on the way home and stopped.

She was put under heavy sedation and treated for shock.

Injured were the driver and passengers of the second car involved in the crash—Ray Skelly, 21, of New Westminster and Ray Yule, 21, of Burnaby; Rafael Jallet, 18, of New Westminster, and Winston McRae, 21, of Surrey.

They were not seriously injured, police said.

Wayne Wilby, 23-year-old tow-truck driver called to haul the mangled cars away, said it was one of the worst accidents he had ever seen.

"It was horrible," he said. "I've never seen cars mangled so much before."

He said it took two trucks two hours to straighten out the wrecked Knaggs car so that police and ambulance men could free the body of the dead driver.

Police said the three children were killed when thrown from the car in the impact.

The bodies of the children had been removed from the scene just shortly before Mrs. Knaggs happened by. She recognized the family car, raft screaming toward it and collapsed after seeing her husband in the twisted wreckage and the tattered remnants of her children's clothing on the road.

Friends of the family said the Knaggs had only recently purchased the car to take a trip to Winnipeg to attend a relative's wedding there.

Officials Blame $ Devaluation

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Gasoline prices began edging up in Victoria today and dealers were generally of the opinion that a one-cent-a-gallon increase would be in effect within a matter of days.

There were also indications that diesel oil, fuel oil and other petroleum prices would also be increased slightly.

The move was initiated by British-American Oil Co. Ltd., closely followed by Texaco Canada Ltd., as part of a Canada-wide increase of seven-tenths of a cent a gallon in tank-wagon (cost to dealer) prices.

The price boost has been attributed by the oil companies to the higher price of crude oil caused by devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

The other major oil companies—Imperial Oil Ltd., Standard Oil of B.C. Ltd., and Shell Oil of Canada Ltd.—have not yet announced general increases but their representatives in Vancouver told the Times this morning that they would be watching the situation carefully.

Shell Oil, however, has increased its price by one cent a gallon to its consignment dealers in the Vancouver and lower mainland "price war" area.

QUICK REACTION

The Victoria tank wagon price increase was reflected immediately today in higher prices at the pumps of B.A. and Texaco service stations.

However, the local price structure is complicated by the better than four-cent differential between regular and premium grade gasolines.

More than 80 per cent of the gasoline pumps in the city will not register more than 50 cents a gallon which means that prices must be increased proportionately more on regular gas than on premium to absorb the average cost of the increase.

One dealer said he had raised his price on regular gas to 46.9 cents a gallon from 45.9 while his premium price stayed at 49.9.

Another service station with new-type pumps is charging 45.6 cents for regular and 50.1 for premium.

Fractional differences in prices can be expected due to location of service stations, which influences competition. One dealer said this morning he thought that "operators" Continued on Page 12

EAST GERMANS ADMIT FOOD SHORT

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists publicly admitted today there are serious food shortages in East Germany.

The party newspaper Neues Deutschland called for increased efforts to produce more milk and meat to overcome deficits in state-planned quotas.

The West Berlin newspaper Der Abend described East Germany's food situation as catastrophic. It said there is scarcely enough milk for young children. In addition to the shortages, it said, much of the food is of bad quality.

Chinese Riot Over Tickets To Border

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Ten persons were reported killed today in Canton after troops moved in to break up a riot over a ban on the sale of train tickets to the Chinese border town of Shumchun near this British colony.

Government sources here said there was no official information on the reported violence in Canton.

A pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper quoted arrivals from the Kwangtung provincial capital as saying that 10 persons were killed and several hundred arrested Tuesday after troops moved in to break up a crowd of 1,000 demonstrators who angrily ignored official pleas to return to their jobs.

The report said railroad officials would only sell Shumchun tickets to holders of rice ration cards. Many of the would-be travellers had turned in their ration coupons last month when they joined the trek southwards to try to cross the border into Hong Kong.

Pearson Reveals Jobless Survey

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

WALKERTON, Ont. — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson Tuesday night produced photostated copies of what he called a government report predicting that Canada is in for a serious spell of unemployment until at least 1970.

He said the report concludes that "unless something is done" Canada will have not less than 400,000 unemployed, on the average, up to 1970.

Mr. Pearson said the report, which he referred to on May 5, was prepared by government experts for the Gill commission, set up last July by the government to find ways out of difficulties facing the unemployment insurance fund.

Government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Diefen-

baker, have heretofore denied knowledge of the existence of the report.

ENTITLED TO HEAR

But Mr. Pearson, before an election rally of more than 800 in the high school auditorium here said he felt the public was entitled to the facts, even though the government attempted to say Mr. Pearson's earlier statements were "a figment of my imagination."

The document released by Mr. Pearson Tuesday night, to the applause of his audience, was a table of statistics headed, "Principal Components of the Labor Market."

They reviewed unemployment in Canada from 1919 to 1970—all the figures beyond this year being labelled as "projected."

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

We hope that former Victoria reporter Bill Galt was wrong when he filed to The Vancouver Sun a dispatch covering Premier Bennett's recent address in Montreal.

Directing his remarks to the French-Canadian women in the audience, our Cecil threw out his arms and cried: "Madames!"

"That, need we suggest, is not quite the correct word in Quebec!"

Those occasional small explosions you may have heard in the Inner Harbor area this week are not irate skin-divers blowing their tops. They are dynamite charges, set off by federal public works department people, taking precise soundings via the seismograph.

A fate worse than death—namely, loss of citizenship—faces United States nationals who vote in the forthcoming election.

Why any red-blooded Democrat or Republican would want to get mixed up in a Canadian election isn't clear, but Hayden Raynor, U.S. consul-general at Vancouver, has asked us to make THIS clear:

"The United States consulate-general cautions all United States nationals that by participating in the forthcoming Canadian election they will automatically lose their United States nationality under Section 349 (a) (5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, 1952."

We urge our American cousins not to get out and vote.

Although the BCG wired the Times yesterday that paid "spots" could not be aired until the free-time political telecasts were completed, that local station continues to break the segment in the middle with paid advertising. Last night the beneficiary of this practise was the NDP candidate, Harry Panthorpe, whose plug was inserted between Mike Pearson and Tommy Douglas.

In case you were wondering why the whiskers on "Mayor Harris" were suddenly shortened recently, the explanation is quite simple.

After sporting an artificial beard for a while, Ed McFadden, who plays the part of the former mayor for the centennial committee, decided to grow his own.

It hasn't had time yet to assume the hirsute heaviness the storebought whiskers had.

Car Crash Death of Girl Brings Negligence Charge

CHILLIWACK—A charge of criminal negligence has been laid against Bernard Bjornson, 22-year-old farmhand in the auto crash death of his fiancée Marion Epp, 20.

Police said Bjornson was charged in connection with the instant death of Miss Epp early Sunday when her car failed to negotiate a curve on the old Trans-Canada Highway near here and smashed into a power pole.

RCMP officers said they have evidence indicating Bjornson was driving the car. Bjornson was released from hospital Tuesday and appeared in police court for an eight-day remand on the charge.

PLANE FOUND

FORT NELSON—An amphibious plane down on a northern British Columbia river flew to Fort Nelson Tuesday after being refueled.

BCAF here said fuel was carried to the downed Seabee 70 miles northwest of Fort Nelson by a private float plane.

The Seabee was sighted at noon Tuesday by an BCAF aircraft after being missing since Saturday on a 250-mile flight from Fort St. John to Fort Nelson.

Dr. C. S. Flaherty of South Milwaukee, Wis., the pilot, and his passenger, a Father Tom Adams, 35, were reported to be unhurt.

SUBURBS MUSHROOM

VANCOUVER—Tabulation of voters' list in 10 B.C. lower mainland ridings has shown major population growths in the suburbs, and declines in urban areas.

In the fringe constituencies of New Westminster, Coast Capilano, Burnaby-Coquitlam, Burnaby-Richmond and Burnaby-South, preliminary figures have jumped 32,000 over 1958.

But there are 16,000 fewer in Vancouver-Burrard, Vancouver Centre, Vancouver-East, Vancouver-Quadra and Vancouver-Kingsway.

Returning officers say the changes are due in some cases to people moving to the suburbs. At the same time, many new Canadians have moved into the city but are not yet qualified to vote.

BOOST FOR MERRITT

KAMLOOPS—Merritt may soon rival Kamloops as the beef cattle sale centre for the British Columbia interior.

The B.C. Livestock Co-operative Association said Tuesday it has purchased the Merritt Livestock Auction and sales of cattle raised in the Princeton and Nicola areas will be handled at Merritt.

The association said in a statement the move from Kamloops to Merritt is chiefly due to opposition to the building of new cattle yards at Kamloops.

It is expected that the Merritt cattle yards will take up to 75 per cent of the livestock sales now made at Kamloops.

More than 43,000 head of cattle worth almost $6,000,000 were sold at Kamloops last year.

The association said the volume of cattle sales at Kamloops has outgrown existing stockyard and plans were made to build new facilities in east Kamloops.

But property owners in the area blocked the project.

DOUGS CHARGED

NELSON—Four members of the Sons of Freedom sect were arrested and charged Tuesday with conspiracy to commit arson in connection with burning of a building in Krestova Sunday.

Charged were Joe Sherstobloff, Andrew W. Stoenikoff, and brothers George and Sid S. Salikin, all from the Crescent Valley area.

They are reimbursed a certain portion of their expenditures annually by the federal and provincial governments.

The assembly voted that the federal government should not consider revenue from hospital parking lots and out-patient diagnostic care "offset" revenue.

'CAUSES HARDSHIP'

As offset revenue, the amount of money made by a hospital in one year from its parking lot and its treatment of out-patients is deducted from the amount paid to the hospital in that year by the federal government under the act.

The assembly said the inclusion of these items as offset revenue caused financial hardship to hospitals.

'D-DAY' SERVICE TONIGHT

"D-Day" service and sunset ceremony will be held by the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) at the cenotaph on the Legislative Building lawn tonight at 8:15.

Col. the Hon. R. W. Mayhew, former honorary colonel of the unit, will lay a wreath in memory of the men of the first battalion who fell during the assault on the Normandy beaches in 1944.

"C" Company, under Maj. Desmond Crofton, was the first in the regiment to hit the beach on June 6. The regiment distinguished itself the following day in a counter-attack which took the town of Putot from a crack SS Panzer unit. During the engagement the Scottish lost nearly one-third of its strength.

Tonight a guard of two divisions and the pipes and drums, under command of Capt. N. M. Ives, will perform the retreat ceremony following the wreath-laying.

City Printer, War Veteran Dies at 71

ALLIES SEEK FORMULA

Krupp to Retain Vast Holdings

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest deadline under which German industrialist Alfred Krupp would be forced to break up his empire comes up at the end of July. It probably will be extended until the end of this year, and may never be enforced.

Krupp, now 54 and believed to be one of the world's richest men with holdings estimated at more than a billion dollars, in 1945 was sentenced to 12 years in prison for war crimes. His vast iron-steel-coal complex was confiscated.

He was released from prison in 1951 and his properties were returned to him under the condition that he sell about half of his empire. He agreed and signed a deconcentration order drawn up in 1953 by the United States, Britain and France. The order has been extended several times.

Although officials here will not comment publicly on the situation, the sober appraisal of many U.S. specialists is that the three powers must sooner or later find a formula to annul the pact.

Privately, most experts say the order is outmoded and there are doubts that it ever was feasible.

HAS SUPPORT

West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is known to support Krupp's claim that he cannot get rid of the properties because there are no buyers.

One of the arguments voiced here against pressing the pact is that the European Coal and Steel Community, of which Germany is a member, has sufficient authority and power to prevent the unhealthy concentration of industrial might in West Germany.

SHOPLIFTERS USE STORE'S FREE PARKING

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Oscar Orr told a mother and daughter Tuesday they were adding insult to injury when they parked their expensive car in the Hudson's Bay Company free facilities before they went on a shoplifting spree in the department store.

He made the comment when he placed Mrs. Cecile Morrison and her daughter, Mrs. Yvonne Braithwaite on probation.

The women were caught leaving the store with stolen articles.

Pearson 'Nice' But Bit To the Left—Bennett

By PETER BUCKLEY

TORONTO (CP)—Social Credit brought three of its biggest guns to bear on Toronto-area voters Tuesday night with a major rally at Massey Hall.

Fewer than 1,000 people attended the rally, and the balconies of the 2,700-seat auditorium were all but empty. Audience response was about equally divided between wild enthusiasm from placard-carrying supporters and apathy from other groups.

Heading the platform assembly were National Leader Robert N. Thompson, Deputy Leader Real Caouette and Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia. With them were some 30 of the party's 70 Ontario candidates, including Toronto Parkdale candidate Watson Middleton, a full-blooded Indian, in chief's regalia.

All three speakers pounded at the economic policies of the Diefenbaker government. Mr. Thompson contending that Social Credit offers a "reasonable, realistic and practical program designed to balance Canada's budget and restore confidence abroad in the Canadian economy."

"Will leave more debt" "When the Diefenbaker administration steps out of office June 18 it will leave behind it nearly $17,500,000 more debt than when it came in on a wave of vision—wistful vision—in 1957," Mr. Thompson said. There were few interruptions, although a New Democratic Party supporter in the front row sent up a continuous stream of interjections which both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Caouette parried easily. There was no organized heckling.

Mr. Bennett got the biggest laugh when he mentioned the dollar devaluation and rising food prices.

"Bread's going up too, you know," the NDP supporter said. Replied Mr. Bennett: "Man does not live by bread alone."

The B.C. premier, a Conservative before joining Social Credit and becoming premier in 1952, took his hardest swings at the Liberal party.

"It's no longer the party of King and Lapointe. It's the party of Mr. Pearson. He's a nice man but oh! a little to the left my friend... No Canadian who values his freedom can vote Liberal in this election."

CLAIMS CCF SELLOUT

He said the CCF, in becoming part of the NDP, has "sold out for a few shekels of silver to the American labor bosses."

Mr. Caouette, speaking in English, said Quebec province

No Basis for Charges Against N.Y. Rabbi

TORONTO (CP)—Justice Dalton C. Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court said Tuesday Toronto police invented charges against a rabbi arrested Jan. 26.

The Canadian Bar Association said police probably committed an assault by taking the fingerprints and photographing Rabbi Norbert Leiner of New York after his arrest on a Toronto street.

Both comments were made at a provincial inquiry into police action at which Mr. Justice Wells is presiding. Rabbi Leiner was stopped by police who were looking for a man suspected of sex crimes.

The judge said the rabbi didn't remotely resemble police drawings of the wanted man. He was a man minding his own business just walking down the street.

"I realize the police officers acted in good faith, but I find it difficult to understand why they acted in this way."

He said two officers who arrested Rabbi Leiner "proceeded to invent two charges" which "had no basis in fact."

He was charged with assaulting police and creating a disturbance.

Mr. Justice Wells made his comments while lawyer John Brooke was presenting arguments on behalf of the officers.

A brief presented by the bar association said testimony at the hearing makes it appear police had no right to arrest the rabbi and if so, "then he was not in lawful custody and to fingerprint and photograph him was an assault."

MONTREAL PROBE RAPS OFFICIALS OF HOSPITAL

QUÉBEC (CP) — A one-man government commission into the administration of St. Michel Hospital in Montreal has demanded the resignation of the institution's president and certain other members of the board of governors. But it said there was "no evidence of fraud" in the hospital's administration.

The executives should resign, said the report, for having an interest in construction contracts involving the hospital.

The report, written by Montreal sessions court Judge Jean Teller, was tabled in the legislature Tuesday by Dr. Alphonse Couturier, provincial health minister. He made no comment.

Politics Enter Gambling Probe

TORONTO (CP) — A suggestion that political influence entered into the easing of police activity against a gaming club in 1954 was heard Tuesday by the royal commission on crime but was denied by lawyer Louis Herman, a leading Progressive Conservative figure in Metropolitan Toronto.

Liberal party counsel B. J. MacKinnon brought up the question of politics in cross-examining Mr. Herman, who has acted for gambling bosses Joseph McDermott and Vincent Feeley, about his work on behalf of the now-closed Rosebud Club near Windsor, reputed to have been controlled by the pair.

Mr. Herman, now secretary-treasurer of the Metropolitan Toronto Progressive Conservative Association and unsuccessful provincial candidate for Toronto St. Andrew in 1951, did legal work for the club between 1954 and its closing under Ontario Provincial Police pressure in 1957.

Mr. MacKinnon read from evidence given behind closed doors in April by Frank (Curly) Gardner, ostensible operator of the club, who said Mr. Herman had been retained because "maybe someone closer to the seat of the provincial administration would be better than a local lawyer." Gardner also had been under the impression that the Toronto lawyer was a Member of Parliament.

Mr. Herman replied the questions of closeness to the seat of government or of "influence" had not been mentioned in his dealings with Gardner. McDermott had originally told him a "friend" in Windsor wanted a lawyer to defend club personnel against a charge of obstructing police.

2,000 MPH Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee has secretly voted $491,000,000 — far more than the Kennedy administration wants — to push development of the controversial RS-70, a 2,000-mile-an-hour bomber.

It also approved funds to head off a $5,000,000 cut in Army Reserve and National Guard forces planned by the administration.

All told, the Senate military appropriations subcommittee added more than $250,000,000 to the $48,000,000,000 defence spending bill passed by the House of Representatives.

President Kennedy asked for $171,000,000 to continue development of prototypes of the RS-70. Gen. Curtis Lemay, air force chief of staff, sought the $491,000,000 to speed development of the plane, as a full-fledged weapon.

Cuba Gets Tractors
 KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Romania has shipped the first of 1,500 especially built tractors ordered by Cuba, Havana radio reported today. The tractors, designed for the Cuban climate, also are equipped for use with the automatic sugar cane cutters Cuba expects to build before next year's harvest is ready, the radio said. Romania supplied Cuba with 2,000 tractors last year.

Anti-Fag Club Opened

AMSTERDAM (Reuters) — Dutch cigarette addicts are crowding into Amsterdam's latest nightclub—an anti-smoking temple run by a 40-a-day man.

Owner of the nightclub is 29-year-old Robert Grootvelt, a veteran campaigner against demon nicotine. He's also a heavy cigarette smoker.

Grootvelt, who last year served a 60-day sentence for smearing cigarette ads with the words "cancer," was slapped with a 30-guilder (about $9) fine recently for the same offence.

Two days later he opened his anti-smoking temple in a former carpenter's workshop.

The temple has an altar with burning candles and dozens of ashtrays filled with snuffed-out cigarette butts.

Grootvelt's plan is to attract heavy smokers to the nightclub and invite them to smoke as much as they wish. But he refuses to have any ventilation.

When smokers have had a puff of their own medicine, Grootvelt holds his anti-smoking ceremony, which has mystical African background music.

According to Grootvelt, the music symbolizes how "cigarette manufacturers, with their advertisements, hypnotize smokers in the same way African medicine men hypnotize primitive people in Africa."

Grootvelt said he tried to kick his own smoking habit when he was in jail during his sentence last year.

But he added, taking a long drag, "it didn't work out."

STRONG SECURITY ATTACHMENTS

Curves Help to Ease Pain

VANCOUVER (CP) — That curvaceous nurse in the dentist's office is doing more than passing instruments.

Dr. Russell Haney, a psychologist from California, said at the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association, Tuesday the "confident female in the environment" will help soothe the frightened patient.

"People with strong fear responses often have strong security attachments to the female figure."

Dr. Haney's point was one of many mentioned to the 1,000 delegates to the convention as modern weapons in the fight to take the pain out of dentistry.

Others were psychology, tranquilizers, "white sound" and hypnosis.

FINDS DRUGS QUICKER

Dr. J. F. Reid of North Vancouver said psychology is slow and time-consuming and tranquilizers and certain drugs are quicker.

Dr. Everett J. Cassell of Seattle said "white sound," a sound similar to rain or a waterfall, coupled with music the patient chooses himself, can take his mind off pain.

Dr. Haney said children should never be promised rewards for being good at the dentist or told about the dentist beforehand.

Heavy B.C. Liability Scares Off Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Council Tuesday voted 53 against investing $23,700,000 in short-term city money in Social Credit government promissory notes bearing 4½ per cent interest.

The city finance department warned other investments would yield lower interest rates than the British Columbia government securities.

Ald. William Rathie said: "I am opposed to council doing anything which might appear to endorse the present financial policies of Premier Bennett and I would tell him so to his face."

The money to be invested comes from tax payments and will not be required by the city until later in the year.

Ald. Rathie described the government's existing liabilities as "astronomical."

"Looking at the total position of the B.C. government we don't know what is going to happen. B.C. is not in a favored financial position at present."

Progress at Paris

DESPITE THE GLOOMY ADVANCE reports from London and Paris, the recent meeting between Prime Minister Macmillan and President de Gaulle seems to have gone well. There is nothing in their joint communiqué to suggest that France intends to prevent Britain's admission to the European Common Market.

On the contrary, the first obstacle to Britain's entry has been removed by an agreement covering manufactured goods. Britain undertakes to abolish its Commonwealth preferences on these products in three steps, by 1970, and to accept Europe's joint external tariff.

This arrangement breaks through many technical difficulties, and, more important, it shows that the Six are willing to accept a reasonable compromise. But manufactured goods represent only a small, a minor fraction of the Commonwealth's present exports to Britain as covered by preferential tariffs or admitted free. Much larger in volume and value are the exports of foodstuffs, metals, raw materials, or semi-manufactured materials.

The enemies of the Common Market say that the overseas Commonwealth nations like Canada will lose their present British market for these things if Britain joins Europe, abolishes its preferences and imposes the European common tariff on its imports. That assumption over-simplifies the problem.

To be sure, some of Canada's exports to Britain may fall but, given reasonable terms of entry, exports to Europe as a whole should rise greatly. Much will depend, of course, on the joint tariff levied by the Common Market and that tariff is now the subject of hard bargaining between Britain and Europe.

Britain asks Europe to guarantee a market for Commonwealth agricultural products equal to their present British market until the worldwide agricultural problem is covered by international commodity agreements, as proposed by the United States. The Six accept the need to underwrite the Commonwealth farmers in some fashion but up to now no detailed formula has been devised.

Products like Canadian aluminum, wood pulp and newsprint create another problem. Britain is prepared to levy the Common Market tariff against them but urges that it be fixed at the lowest possible figure. In the case of many raw materials, scarce in Europe, it argues that no tariff is needed.

Canada is vitally concerned with the level of the tariffs finally fixed. If they are minimal no serious barrier will be erected against our exports and, besides, our exporters now enjoy the competitive advantage of a devalued currency.

In any case, a Common Market embracing western Europe and Britain — a market potentially larger than the United States — will need far more goods from Canada than Britain has bought in the past. And if Britain fails to solve its recurring balance-of-payments problem by joining Europe she will be unable to maintain her present scale of imports from Canada and the rest of the Commonwealth.

Lord Beaverbrook and his friends are mounting a formidable propaganda campaign to prove that Britain must choose between Europe and the Commonwealth. Such was the warning issued by the Canadian government in the ugly threats of the Accra conference last year. But as a strongly Conservative newspaper, The Toronto Globe and Mail, warns the government, this version of the problem "is simply not true."

The interests of the Commonwealth and the Common Market, as the Globe and Mail says, are not necessarily opposed but are complementary since "the interests of the whole world are not in narrow trading blocs—European, Commonwealth, American or any other—but in free multilateral trade."

That is the view of the British government as it now approaches the critical negotiations with Europe but unfortunately it is not the view of the present Canadian government.

As to Lord Beaverbrook's assurance that Britain finally will refuse to join the Common Market, it should be remembered, as the Globe and Mail recalls, that in all his great campaigns of the past he has been almost invariably wrong in both policy and prophesy.

Throughout the summer of 1939 his London Express ran on its front page, week after week, the announcement that there would be no war in Europe. Lord Beaverbrook is an extraordinary man but a lamentable prophet.

Foresight on Parks

SAANICH'S LANDS AND PLANNING committee has shown foresight and an appreciation for the municipality's needs in recommending a $500,000 loan bylaw for the purchase of desirable park property in the district.

Provided the move is endorsed by the council, as it should be, the residents of Saanich will be given a chance next December to render a taxpayers' decision on the matter.

The money is required to purchase the McRae estate, including the Cedar Hill golf course, and Gordon Point property—a promontory highly suitable for develop-

Reeve Stanley Murphy is correct in viewing the action as proof of the committee's readiness to face up "to the problem of meeting our recreation needs, present and future."

The sum suggested for the bylaw is substantial. It will be a great deal larger if purchase is delayed. As potential park sites are bought and developed privately, the market price rises for what is left. That is a simple fact Saanich people will face when and if they have the opportunity to vote on the committee's recommendation.

A Cry That Came Too Late

MRS. VERA EICHMANN HAS added a pathetic epilogue to the trial and execution of her husband.

She professes her belief in Adolf Eichmann's innocence, says she will devote her life and what money she can raise to "searching for the (Nazi) leaders who killed my only love—my life."

This harrowing outcry serves one useful purpose only. It stands as a reminder to the human family of the inclination in some to lay the blame for crime on the shoulders of others.

If Mrs. Eichmann cried out against the horrible slaughter of Jewish people at the time when her husband was inextricably involved in this grotesque crime against humanity, her voice was not heard. The time for protest is long past for the widow and her sons.

First Step on the Road

A SIGN OF THE FUTURE could be seen in Monday's opening of an atomic power plant in northern Ontario. Although the plant is producing only 3,000 of its 20,000 kilowatt capacity it was an indication of the greater output that will be poured into the Ontario power transmission network.

The new plant, the first in Canada and said to be of unique construction, is not economic. Its costs of operation are too great as yet to make it a competitor of hydro plants or of conventional thermal producers. But it may be considered as a pilot project, a forerunner of what will ultimately come.

British Columbia will no doubt feel the competition of nuclear power much later than most parts of the world. Our vast hydro resources, if developed sensibly, will provide for all our power needs for a long time to come at rates which nuclear plants cannot match. But we must expect that science will eventually crack the secret and present us with economically priced atomic power.

The Ontario plant serves notice that Canada is in the race—along with Britain, Russia, the United States and one or two other nations. And it may well be that the new methods now being tried out in Ontario will be adopted by other countries seeking to augment their power resources.

Travelling Salesman's Story

MR. W. A. C. BENNETT, BRITISH Columbia's travelling salesman for Social Credit, has some interesting stories to tell on the road—at least in Quebec.

Among other things, Mr. Bennett told a Montreal group the other day that Social Credit now enjoys the support of every racial, religious and economic group in British Columbia.

If this means that his party has adherents in many different groups, the premier no doubt is correct. But he should explain that in the last provincial election, 61.14 per cent of the votes went against Social Credit. The party was elected by the other 38.86 per cent.

HEAVY... HEAVY... HEAVY

For a Bright, Happy, Painless World

By B. A. TOBIN

IT was in a London street thirty years ago. A crowd had gathered around a red-haired, blue-eyed Irishman who was giving "a little spiel."

He selected a youth from the small audience, put him into a trance with a few words or motions, then proceeded to thrust a large sail-maker's needle through a fold of skin on the lad's wrist. The patient showed no signs of feeling. The needle was pulled out. There was no pain, no bleeding and the hypnotist said there would be no infection. The patient walked away a little dazed. So did the audience.

In Vancouver on Monday a doctor similarly hypnotized a patient. She was told that the tooth extraction she was about to undergo would not hurt her, that it would not bleed and that she would feel fine afterwards. Apparently it all happened just like the man said.

The method does not seem to have been widely adopted during the past thirty years, even though the results are apparently effective. Most people have a natural distrust of mind-over-matter practices, especially when it's somebody else's mind over their matter.

But there ought to be a great future for this sort of thing, whether it's employed in giving people the needle or pulling teeth.

For instance: An employee's delegation waits upon the boss.

"Now, Mr. Giltedge," says a spokesman, "Would you care to look at this silver stickpin I'm wearing? See how it sparkles. See how it glows, Mr. Giltedge."

edge. You are watching it, watching it. Now you feel drowsy, drowsy, drowsy... That's fine.

"Now, Mr. Giltedge, we have here a contract which leaves wages the same but provides for six weeks paid vacation each year, transportation to and from our homes, time and a half on Wednesdays and Fridays and double time on rainy days. I'm sure you will be glad to agree to this, won't you Mr. Giltedge, won't you, won't you..."

Of course, it could work the other way.

"Boys," says Mr. Giltedge to a group of employee representatives gathered in his office, "I draw your attention to this interesting little paper weight on my desk. Rather neat, eh? Observe the small gleaming light on top. Watch it closely. Watch it. Your eyes are feeling a little heavy, heavy, heavy... sleepy... sleepy..."

"Ahem. Well, well. Excellent. Now gentlemen, I would like your written consent to a little amendment in our contract. Nothing at all, really. You will gladly take a 15 per cent cut in wages. That goes without saying. And I know you will be happy to revert to the 48-hour week for a year or two, won't you? Of course. Just sign here, please. You'll feel very happy about this afterward, won't you... won't you..."

Well, as long as you're happy, does it matter?

"Doakes," says the sales manager, "I'm going to take you off the urban circuit, where you have every night at home, and send you out to G. opsville. Now wait a minute! You can't resign without notice! Look at my ring, here. Look at the stone in it—looks like a little eye, doesn't it... an unblinking eye, Doakes. Watch it... easy... easy... just relax... that's it..."

your mind's at peace, Doakes... you're content... happy... agreeable... that's it.

"Now, about Goopsville, Doakes. I know it's a terrible district, that you'll only get home once a month and that the living conditions there are horrible. I recall, too, that there's a cholera epidemic raging there, and that your commissions will drop to about $40 a week. But we want you out there, Doakes. We can't hypno—I mean, we can't get anybody else.

"Now you just doze there for five minutes, and when you wake up you'll pack your bags and be happy, happy to go to Goopsville. You'll insist on it, Doakes, and enjoy every minute you're there."

On a mass scale perhaps even more spectacular results could be achieved.

"Now I want all you fine people, you hundreds out there, just to look at this shiny pencil I have here. Bright, isn't it? Shiny... shiny... it pulls your eyes... pulls them... makes them heavy... heavy... heavy..."

"Now I want you all to think of a wonderful vision... a great dream... the north... roads and railways... sources being developed... full employment for everyone... a great shining future, friends... resources, employment, trade, prosperity... I guess that's enough."

"And when you go to the polling booths I want you all to remember to mark..."

Well, they say there's no pain, no blood and no tears.

"Look at this paragraph... watch it closely... your eyes are getting heavy... this is a good column, see... an excellent column... when you wake up you'll think you've enjoyed it..."

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Don't They Care?

From the school bylaw on Saturday, it would seem the voting public of the Saanich Peninsula is completely indifferent in its attitude to local affairs, or perhaps I should say that 86 per cent couldn't care about Canadian youth.

These people will, in the future, run our country and unless they are given a good education, partly provided for in the bylaw, this nation of ours will suffer, worse than at present. And it is suffering now.

Democracy, as defined by Abraham Lincoln, is government of the people, for the people and by the people. The general public is all for the first two parts which require no effort. Apparently the last section interests only 14 per cent of the populace of School District No. 63. For the others, it's just too much effort to get out and vote.

Disgusted by Camp Fee

I am disgusted with the government for loading a $2 charge on campers at 12 parks in B.C.

Although it could discourage the "camp hogs" it will not necessarily eliminate them. A more effective way (and cheaper) to deal with camp hogs would be to limit a camper's stay to, say seven consecutive days. This method is used in the U.S.A.

It doesn't appear reasonable that the $2 charge will encourage campers to visit all parks, since who is going to drive all over the province for the specific purpose of saving the camp fee?

However, it's an ill wind that doesn't blow some good because in this case the motel-hotel owners will obviously benefit.

"A CAMPING TAXPAYER."

Blame the System

In this election campaign, like others, the party in power takes credit for past performances while the other contestants blame them for any miseries that the majority may be suffering. Notwithstanding, there is precious little credit to be taken and the blame does not belong with this political party or that political party but with the social system which gives rise to poverty, insecurity and war, namely capitalism.

Only one party, the Socialist Party of Canada places the responsibility for changing our social system where it belongs, right at the feet of the majority or more specifically the working class.

The capitalists are quite content with their position in this society. If the workers want something better than a few dollars unemployment insurance or a measly pension after a lifetime of production or the enviable opportunity of periodically serving your masters by exchanging ballots with others who likewise are serving their exploiters, if they want something better they are going to have to find out what it is and establish it. I'm afraid they'll have to use a little more of their mental facilities than they now do listening to the great bulk of political ballyhoo.

197-Day School Year

Your editorial in the Victoria Daily Times of May 24 entitled "A Longer School Year," should not pass unchallenged.

I have no objection to an editorial which states an opinion contrary to my own provided it is based on facts. In this case it was not. You stated that the school year is "some distance" from the 200 days recommended by the Chant Report. This year, all children, except for some senior high students not required to write government examinations will attend school for 197 days. A 1 1/2 per cent deviation can hardly be called "some distance" as you use the term, namely, a relatively large distance. May I also mention that you failed to point out that, in line with the Chant Report, the school day was lengthened this year.

Twice you referred to the "basis of two terms over ten months" and imply that the Chant Report made some recommendation that this should be changed. The report makes no suggestion whatsoever that this should be altered.

Your first paragraph is, I assume, in praise of part by the educational system of Georgia. I can only hope that you know more about the Georgia system than you appear to know about our own.

Guns Before Butter

By JOSEPH ALSOP

REPORTS from Moscow announce that the butter price there has been raised to almost $2 a pound and that, even at this high price, butter is not always obtainable. Very little has been said, however, about the root-cause of the butter shortage, which is the massive investment in guns. The guns - before - butter choice was formally made last winter. The Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party met in full session, to discuss the crisis in agriculture.

The farm crisis was publicly admitted and frankly documented. Yet the principal decision taken was to swell the ranks of Soviet agricultural officialdom — to use bureaucrats, in fact, as a novel substitute for fertilizer.

Almost simultaneously, the Soviet government also announced that its defence budget had been increased by a staggering 45 per cent, which is about double the Kennedy increase of the Eisenhower defence budget.

Important Fact

Except in demonological circles, almost no attention was paid to this announcement concerning the defence budget, but if the announcement was not misleading, it constitutes a new fact of the utmost world-wide importance.

Since the Kremlin announcement was made, this reporter has tried to get at the truth, both here and in Europe. The truth is not easy to ascertain, and even when data are obtainable, you at once discover there is much dispute about the data. Here, however, is the best brief summary that can be offered:

First of all, there is no doubt at all that the Soviet defence effort has been greatly intensified. The first open symptom was the abrupt reversal of Nikita S. Khrushchev's shrink-the-armed-forces program in the summer of 1961.

Special call-ups and holdovers in service brought the number of men in uniform up to the level that had existed before Khrushchev gave his order for a reduction. This meant an overall increase of several hundred thousand men.

Secondly, the intensification of the Soviet defence effort is by no means limited to this increase of men in uniform. In itself the increase must be a heavy strain, since Russia is now passing through a period of extreme scarcity of young manpower, caused by the low birthrate and poor infant-survival rate in wartime.

Yet the strain on the economy of the increased investments in military hardware must be greater still.

Astonishing

In the field of missile hardware alone, the current Soviet investments are downright astonishing. On the one hand, a second-generation Soviet intercontinental missile, comparable to the American liquid-fueled Titan, is now in quantity production.

Large numbers of launching sites are also being built for these missiles, not "hardened" like the American ICBM launching sites, but still fairly costly. The program is being pushed forward with such speed that within twelve months the Soviets may add as many as 200 new ICBMs to their operational arsenal.

On the other hand—and even more costly—the Soviets are also pushing forward with great speed a truly vast program of surface-to-air missiles like the American Nike.

The Soviet industrial centres are thickly surrounded by new SA II's, as the Defence Department calls the missile comparable to our Nike-Hercules. But the SA II's, highly effective against aircraft attacking at high altitudes, are of little use against planes coming in on the deck, in accordance with the new tactics of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

Hence the thousands of SA II's are now being supplemented, apparently without regard to cost, by huge additional numbers of SA III's—surface-to-air missiles designed to knock down attacking planes at low altitudes.

Elaborate Defence

The cost of installing this elaborate point defence of all the major Soviet industrial centres is so great that it is now thought to absorb up to 35 per cent of the entire Soviet defence budget.

Yet the whole system will be obsolete in the near future, when SAC phases out its aircraft and places its main reliance on long-range ballistic missiles.

Finally, further large but indeterminate amounts are also being invested in a major Soviet effort to produce an anti-missile missile.

Even so, the majority of demonologists hold that the announced increase in Soviet military spending is in part a fraud. They argue it was partly achieved by openly including in the defence budget expenditures formerly concealed in such mysterious items as "financing the national economy." This item and others like it have indeed been somewhat reduced, making the case for partial fraud rather convincing.

Yet the degree of fraud—if fraud, there be—is very much less significant than the undoubted fact that the Soviet national policy is again rather emphatically putting guns before butter.

NO CULTURE

There is a fair consensus that culture is something we once had, ought to have, might possibly some time have again, but certainly have not at the moment in any viable sense. And so here is a number of thinkers who have at least this in common, that their tone is diagnostic, often rather anxiously so, as if, with culture, the only disease you can certainly diagnose is death.

Kathleen Scott, British poet, critic and author.

Thud Goes the Profit

MY FRIEND Rudolph Williams is in the nursery business. He imports stock from certain parts of the world, nurtures it and retails the plants to help make Victoria the city of homes and gardens.

His margin of profit seems modest to me. This year, on one particular item, it's considerably below modesty. There won't be any profit at all, because Mr. Williams uses his earnings to buy more stock and the depreciated Canadian dollar leaves him working for nothing in rhododendrons.

Stott

"Last year," he told me, "I ordered 400 rhododendrons from the Papatrac export nurseries in Wetteren, Belgium, for delivery this spring. It happened that Victoria people wanted a lot of rhododendrons this year and I sold out my stock before the new catalogue came in. On some items I've been able to make 30 cents on a $6 plant.

"That means that I'd have had about $120 more to invest in stock next year and the business would have been a little bigger."

As I figure it, the mark-up on this particular species would amount to 5 per cent. That can't be considered the rate of earnings on all stock, since, depending on the competitive market, prices can be forced much lower.

But the Williams' plan for prudent, expanded buying has been destroyed by a rather quaintly-phrased letter he received from the Papatrac people. It reads as follows:

"We finish printing our catalogue today and were very pleased at the idea that you would have our list to hand in the middle of May."

"Unfortunately a bad tidings reaches us at the very moment."

"The Canadian Government has decided to adapt the currency of the Canadian Dollar to 92 per cent of the U.S. Dollar—thus reducing its value for the second time in less than 12 months."

"Indeed a first reduction was practised in June, 1961, and on all payments received after June 20th, 1961, we lost 5 per cent. Last year we did not adapt prices of our list which was already in your hands in June, 1961, and throughout the season, we supplied trees and plants at 5 per cent less than their current price on the home market."

"If we can take at our charge such a loss during one season we cannot repeat it a second year and therefore adapted prices in our present 1962-63 list."

"Today when this list is ready a new reduction of 5 per cent is practised and we regret very much that we have to increase our prices with 5 per cent."

Mr. Williams understands Papatrac's position. He also understands his own. His position is that of finding his 5 per cent markup on rhododendrons sold this year completely swallowed by the 5 per cent increase in the cost of stock replacement for next year.

Mr. Williams has, of course, had all the fun of ordering, nurturing, tending and selling the plants this year. In this community, ordering, nurturing and tending plants is a highly-prized leisure pursuit for many citizens. Unfortunately, Mr. Williams carries on those activities as a way of making a living. It isn't exactly a hobby with him.

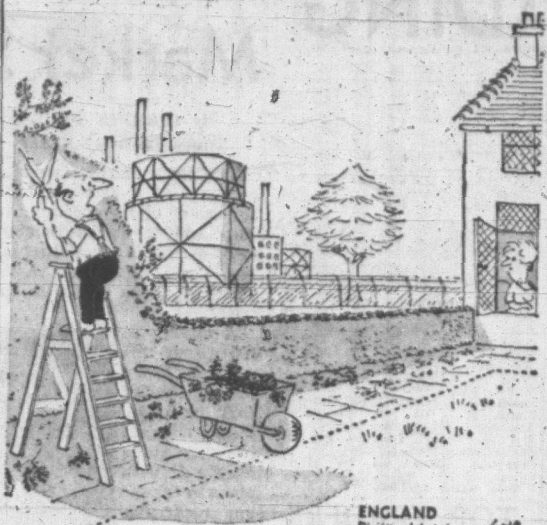

He likes his work, but he also has to eat.

Next year he'll have to charge more for the rhododendrons he imports—and any other stock that he buys outside the country with a dollar that's worth only 92½ cents now.

And he'll have to pay more for supplies which will be sold at what he can get. "You have to go with the terms of trade at any given moment," he explains, meaning you've got to meet the competition or you don't sell.

What has happened to Rudolph Williams in the matter of Belgian rhododendrons will happen, or is happening, to everyone in this community who does not subsist on the spuds and turnips he grows in his own backyard. You pay a little more for what you import because your dollar's not worth what it used to be in foreign markets.

And nobody exists here entirely without the purchase of some imports.

Bonner Raps Tories On 'Jobless Stance'

FREDERICTON (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia Tuesday night described unemployment as the number one problem in Canada.

Mr. Bonner told a Social Credit rally that with 7½ per cent of the labor force unemployed, "Mr. Diefenbaker says he is standing on the record. If that is where the Conservatives stand it is high time they got off that stance."

Mr. Bonner said a degree of misery has spread around in Canada because the economy has ceased to expand.

"When the gross national product levels off and population increases, you have trouble."

He praised the capabilities of Canada's manufacturers and said there is nothing United States producers can do that the industries in this country can't do as well—but they lack a mass market.

The time was past when Canada could continue to take a "standoffish" attitude towards the United States; consideration now should be given to establish a North American common market or customs union, he said.

Party candidates George W. Nickerson for York-Sudbury and Robert Reed for Royal also addressed the meeting.

LONDON LETTER

'Drug Addiction Not a Crime'

LONDON—I was in our local pub when a doctor from the hospital at the top of the road dropped in.

He came over to me and said: "Here's something that will probably interest you. We've just got a drug addict in at the hospital—a Canadian."

"What's his name?"

The doctor mentioned the name of a well-known Toronto family.

"He's only 21 and he's been on drugs for six years," he said. "He's now taking 15 grains of heroin a day."

"What sort of state is he in?"

"He's a write-off."

"At 21 years of age, a write-off?"

"Yes. We're making arrangements for him to go into a mental institution. And here's something that might interest you, too. We had a specialist in to see him, a doctor who is one of the leading experts on drug addiction. She was telling me that there are 40 Canadians over here on the drug addiction register."

"What's that precisely?"

"Britain was the first country to recognize drug addiction as an illness and not a crime, as other countries look upon it. There is a register of drug addicts and they can get supplies from 'chemists' shops while they're under treatment. They can get it on National Health, too. Which probably explains why these Canadians are over here."

I was reminded of going in at night to John Bell and Croyden on Wigmore Street, one of London's 24-hours-a-day chemist shops. Waiting for my prescription, I had seen the lineup of addicts, each putting down his or her two shillings (30 cents) and collecting a supply of drugs under the National Health scheme.

I checked with the Home Office and a spokesman there told me that registration of addicts comes under the Dangerous Drugs Act.

There are 437 drug addicts on the register, he said.

When I got in touch with the Canadian authorities in London to get a figure to compare with Britain's 437 and America's 44,906 and to find out the Canadian attitude to supplying addicts, nobody wished to be quoted.

Forty Canadians in Britain's 437 registered drug addicts. The percentage seems high.

Victoria West Show Saturday

Community events deserve the support not only of the district concerned but of other areas surrounding it. In this way, a community becomes more intimately known by its neighbors.

On Saturday of this week, June 9, we shall have the privilege of visiting one of Victoria's oldest communities, known today as Victoria West.

The occasion will be its seventh annual flower show and it is being held in St. Saviour's Parish Hall at the corner of Catherine and Henry Streets, two blocks up Catherine from Esquimalt Road.

Hilda

Seven years ago the folks of Vic West put on their first show as amateurs; now many of their exhibitors display their flowers and vegetables in most of the major shows on the lower part of Vancouver Island.

These local flower shows seem to serve many purposes. One is as a fund-raising event for some particular community project.

Other less tangible benefits are the spirit of co-operation which must be developed before people can work together and the love of garden and home which is fostered by the growing of worthwhile plants which can be shared on the show tables with the visitors who admire them.

In glancing over the classes open for exhibits, it seems likely that some will lack entries, and I am sure the folks of Vic West would welcome entries from other parts of Greater Victoria where some of the flowers may already be in bloom.

A phone call tonight to Mrs. T. Wilson at EV 5-3052 will bring you a list of classes and an entry form, and your exhibits may be taken to the hall on either Friday evening between 7 and 9 or on Saturday morning from 8 to 10.

The show opens at 2.30 p.m. Saturday and whether you exhibit or visit, or both, you'll enjoy the delicious afternoon teas which are included in the 50 cents admission.

Quite incidentally, the prizes are all useful things for the garden, including fertilizers, sprays and srips. Try your skill.

'Trying to Force Me Out' Declares Packing Head

... no subsidy

VANCOUVER (CP) — President Jack Diamond of the Pacific Meat Company here charged Tuesday night Canada Packers and Swifts are trying to force him out of business.

It looks like "a case of the big guy trying to eat the little guy," he said in an interview commenting on the refusal of Canada Packers and Swift to accept new rail rate reductions on the shipment of live cattle from the prairies here for slaughter.

Mr. Diamond also said he took exception to the term "subsidy" applied to the rate reduction by a Canada Packers official in the prairies.

He said under the old structure a 20,000-pound car of live cattle cost $1.15 a hundred-weight or $230. Under the new rate structure, shared for heavier car loads, if a shipper can get 30,000 pounds in a car the rate is 91 cents or $273.

"If the railroad is making an extra $43 per car, they're not subsidizing anybody," Mr. Diamond said.

There were no complaints of subsidies when a 40-cent drop in the rate for dressed meat from the prairies to Vancouver was announced in March.

Officials of Gainers Limited and Burns and Company, which have ceased slaughtering operations here in favor of prairie plants, said the reduction would make no material change to their operations in the Vancouver market.

ECM Clash Over Tariff Reprisals

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — West Germany and Belgium were reported to have clashed Tuesday night over a decision by the European Common Market to take tariff reprisals against the United States.

The clash in the market's council of ministers meeting here was between Alfred Mueller-Armack, West German secretary of state for economic affairs, and Belgium's Foreign Trade Minister Maurice Brasseur, sources close to the council reported.

The West German said the market's decision to raise the trade bloc's common external tariff on five U.S. products would have to be ratified by his country's parliament.

Brasseur accused the West Germans of having pulled the condition "out of the hat" at the last minute. Mueller-Armack was reported to have denied this, saying his delegation had mentioned it Monday.

COURT INFORMS ROYAL TRUST

BCE Debenture Holders Can be Paid

VANCOUVER (CP) — A British Columbia Supreme Court justice said Tuesday the Royal Trust Company would be justified in paying B.C. Electric Company debenture holders their share of a $40,000,000 debenture call by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

But Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutcheson said the firm should take all steps to inform the debenture holders of present court suits contesting the validity of the BCE takeover by the B.C. government.

The trust company had asked the court for direction in connection with a recent provincial government offer to redeem the debentures.

The government has taken over the BCE and paid the parent B.C. Power Corporation $170,000,000 for it. The BCE now has been merged with the B.C. Power Commission to form the hydro authority.

The power corporation is contesting the takeover in Supreme Court. It asks the court to declare legislation expropriating the BCE invalid or, failing that, to set a fair price for the company.

The series B debentures contained a feature under which shares of the power corporation could be acquired at stated intervals.

The trust company was trustee by former agreement involving the BCE and the power corporation.

Mr. Justice Hutcheson said he was expressing no opinion as to the right of the power authority to redeem the debentures or an opinion relative to the rights of the parties or the issues involved in litigation.

He said it is up to the debenture holders to decide what their debentures for redemption course they wish to follow. But the holders should be advised that by surrendering their shares in the power corporation would be effected.

DUKE'S CONFERENCE ENDS

Delegates Vote Seminar Success

By JIM PEACOCK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officially, no conclusions are reached by the Duke of Edinburgh's Second Commonwealth Study Conference, which ends here today.

But individually, the 300 delegates to the 25-day travelling seminar obviously have concluded it was a tremendous success and that more such conferences should be staged to promote international understanding.

"The conference is the answer to a lot of frictions in the world today," said Michael S. Elder of Jamaica, one of several delegates questioned in a random sampling of opinion about the effectiveness of the project.

"It proves how everybody—of different race, color and outlook—can get together in harmony and discuss their problems, having their differences, of course, but coming to a common, ultimate conclusion for the good of all."

M. O. Elebesunu of Lagos, Nigeria, said "the very idea of the conference is most laudable because apart from the study of our subject matter, the idea of getting 300 people from all parts of the Commonwealth together appears to be the most effective way of creating understanding among nations."

PHILIP TO SPEAK
The study conference, established at the suggestion of Prince Philip who was scheduled to deliver the closing address today, was built around the theme of "human consequences of the changing industrial environment."

It brought delegates from 35 Commonwealth countries together in Montreal May 13 and took them, together and in separate groups, to communities across the country.

Their deliberations were held in private, with the intention of encouraging uninhibited debate, and no formal statements of the results have been issued.

Mr. Elder, 28, director and personnel manager of Seaforth Sugar and Rum Ltd., and amateur golf champion of Jamaica, said "the conference has made me very aware of our future planning for our companies; of certain steps we may take in mechanization and automation in Jamaica. It is coming, and now I am aware of the necessity for the correct planning as to how it is going to affect the human beings involved in this transition stage."

Tenders will close June 26.

VICTORIA WOMEN'S GOLF

Shirley Could Do It If Those Putts Fall

Shirley Naysmith is out of her slump and that suggests that the Gorge Vale shotmaker may be ready to toss some fireworks into the city women's golf tournament.

Defending champion Margaret Todd and Joan Lawson, runner-up last year, are again being touted as the girls to beat. And their efforts in the first two days of the annual title chase at Uplands indicate they are dead serious about renewing rivalry in Friday's final round.

Mrs. Todd, seeking her 11th city crown, paced qualifiers with a three-over-par 78 and then chalked up a handy 9 and 7 victory over Mrs. B. Price in Tuesday's first round of match play. Mrs. Todd played par golf in the 11 holes played.

Playing over her home course, Mrs. Lawson fired an 81 for second place in the qualifying test and had her deadly short game as sharp as a kitten's tooth Tuesday, rolling to a 10 and 8 triumph over Mrs. J. Tribe.

Those are impressive credentials, but don't sell cheerful Shirley short. A seasoned campaigner who appears to have shaken the fairway blues that haunted her last year, Mrs. Naysmith this year has collected the North Island crown and her fourth straight Mid-Island title.

Leading junior and quarter-finalist in the Canadian women's championship at Halifax back in 1954, Shirley was third in Monday's qualifying round with an 82, and even better as she ousted Mrs. C. Humber Tuesday. She was just three over par for the 14 holes she needed to wrap up a 5 and 4 victory.

Trying for her third city title and the only Victorian shooting for a place on the B.C. women's team to the Canadian championships, Mrs. Naysmith is away to a good start in her bid to grab a berth on the provincial squad for the fifth time. Her qualifying round tally is one of five that count towards selection of the team.

SOME WORRIES
Averaging about 210 yards off the tees, Shirley admits that her short game tends to be shaky.

"It cost me a place on the B.C. team last year," she says, "I just can't putt worth a darn."

But the way she was stroking her way around Uplands Tuesday suggests she might get enough of those putts to fall in to give her that third crown.

Also advancing into today's quarterfinals were Mrs. Elsie Saunders, Mrs. Jean Christie, Mrs. Edna Hay, Mrs. T. Liddell and Mrs. W. Hicks. Tuesday's results: Mrs. J. Todd def. Mrs. B. Price, 9 and 7; Mrs. T. Christie def. Mrs. G. Haggis, 4 and 2; Mrs. W. Hicks def. Mrs. G. Chisholm, 4 and 2; Mrs. G. Hay def. Mrs. B. Thirwell, 5 and 2; Mrs. D. Naysmith defeated Mrs. C. Humber, 5 and 4; Mrs. E. Saunders def. Mrs. H. Mearns, 1 up; Mrs. T. Liddell def. Mrs. E. Hibberd, 1 up; Mrs. K. Lawson def. Mrs. J. Tribe, 10 and 8.

GOLF SCHOOL

By SAM SNEAD

Keep your head down! How many times have you been told that? Or how many times have you told yourself that?

Nevertheless, every golfer runs into streaks when he fails to keep his head down and wants to watch where the ball is going—even before he hits it.

Note, in today's illustration, how the head remains down and the eyes remain concentrating on the spot where the ball was resting. The club-head is almost halfway up to the follow-through position, but the head remains looking down.

That, friends, is good form. The head will come up, naturally as the shoulders continue swinging around toward the finish of the swing. The entire body will pivot around and face toward the finish of the swing. The entire body will pivot around and face toward the shot, taking the head with it.

There's plenty of time to look at the ball then.

Hitting Pitchers Wipe Out Theory

Brian Lucas and Darrel Mathias marked up no-hitters and otherwise Victoria Little Leaguers showed great disdain for the baseball quirk that suggests "pitchers don't have to be hitters."

Lucas marked up his second no-hitter of the season in Carnarvon Pony League play while Mathias held Hampton Little League rivals hitless. Mathias, Pat Woods, Bob Rimmer and Ray Walters were the pitchers who apparently don't mind being hitters at the same time. All hit home runs.

By coincidence, the teams that boasted the home-run hitting pitchers won their games Tuesday.

Derby, Preakness Aces in Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine horses are considered certain starters Saturday in the 94th Belmont Stakes, with two trainers scouting around for riders and Roman Line still a questionable factor.

The $125,000-added event at Belmont Park, run once around the 1 1/4-mile oval, has the best balanced field in many years and will go far to ward pinpointing the three-year-old champion.

For the first time since 1956, a Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner will clash. El Peco Ranch's Decidedly, the grey California colt, won the Derby at Louisville May 5 in record time and will try to repeat at Belmont Park. Brandywine Stable's Greek Money, winner of the May 19 Preakness in Baltimore, tries to make it two straight in the final of the triple crown classics.

David K and Stinson Beach are the horses without riders. Roman Line may pass up the Belmont for Saturday's Select Handicap at Monmouth Park. Frank E. Power's Vimy Ridge and Ada L. Rice's Daddy R., plus Jalpur, Greek Money, Crimson Satan, David K, Admiral's Voyage, Stinson Beach and Decidedly are virtually certain to start. If nine go, the purse will be $154,550, the winner collecting a record $110,800.

The projected figures calculated unemployment in total numbers and as a percentage of the work force. The figures from 1962 to 1970 are: 1962—400,000 (6.2 per cent); 1963, 495,000 (7.3 per cent); 1964, 535,000 (7.7 per cent); 1965, 480,000 (7.6 per cent); 1966, 415,000 (5.6 per cent); 1967, 460,000 (6.0 per cent); 1968, 500,000 (6.4 per cent); 1969, 400,000 (5.0 per cent); 1970, 415,000 (5.0 per cent).

The estimated figure for this year, according to the table issued by Mr. Pearson, was 400,000 or 6.0 per cent of the labor force.

NOT STOLEN

The table of statistics, in photostatic form, was released to the press by Mr. Pearson. In announcing to his audience that he was an doing, Mr. Pearson said he wanted to "assure you that we didn't steal this in any way, shape or form," he simply said it "came into our possession."

The figures, he said, proved what he had said. "They show that in the next four years the number of people needing jobs will increase by 800,000," he said. In order to get rid of chronic unemployment that means we will need altogether a million new jobs.

"The estimate is that in 1964 unemployment will hit a peak of 535,000. That's an average throughout the year. It means in the worst months a peak—a peak in the winter after next—of 750,000 Canadian men and women out of work."

"And the government says if it can stay in office everything will continue to be fine. Ministers have said that before, and it wasn't true. They are saying it now without evidence. They are hiding the problems of the country."

TRYING TO HIDE

"They're trying to hide the consequences of their own mistakes, their mismanagement, their lack of policy, their destruction of confidence, their failure to act."

The statistics issued by Mr. Pearson showed an estimated increase in the labor force of from 6,625,000 this year to 8,220,000 in 1970.

There was no text along with the table of figures and the Liberal leader's statement that the report would come true, "unless something is done" was his own interpretation.

In providing the table to the press, Mr. Pearson was for the second day in a row aiming most of his election ammunition at one main subject. On Monday, the issue was devaluation of the dollar; on Tuesday, it was unemployment.

Liberal spokesmen said Mr. Pearson would be hammering at one prominent issue each day for the rest of the campaign, adding his complaints up at the end to a full indictment of the Progressive Conservative government.

HECTIC DAY

His speech in this Tory area highlighted a hectic day of campaigning for Mr. Pearson. He made stops in six centres of southwestern Ontario, all of which have been represented in the Commons by Conservatives for the past four years.

In his Walkerton speech he lashed out at the Conservatives for trying to "exploit" violent demonstrations against the prime minister by blaming them on the Liberals.

Such disturbances, he said, resulted from the efforts of a "few and unhappy Canadians trying to break up meetings."

Mr. Pearson said the Conservatives were "looking for trouble and then trying to blame it on the Liberals—that's what it has come to in the last few moments, the last few hours, of this campaign."

GAS PRICES

would be crazy to try and charge more than 49.9 cents for premium gas."

With two cut-rate bulk gas stations operating in Victoria now, he believed, a move into the 50-cent-a-gallon price range would be an open invitation to a general price war which would be ruinous for dealers.

The tank wagon price boost brought the price of gas to B-A and Texaco dealers from 41.3 to 42 cents for premium gas and from 36.3 to 37 for regular.

Stan Hitchman, president of the Automotive Retail Association, Victoria branch, confirmed that the price increase in most cases would probably average out at a cent a gallon.

"Our association has always urged that for an operator to run a good station, provide proper service to the public and make a decent living, he must maintain a 20 per cent profit margin on sales," he said.

"That margin can't be maintained," he said, "if each price increase to the dealer is simply passed along to the public. That way the margin is constantly decreased."

The service station spokesman, said, however, that it would be up to individual dealers to decide whether to absorb part of the increase, pass it along or to add to the increase enough to maintain the margin.

PASSED ON

Last previous gasoline price hike was early last summer when the provincial government increased the tax on gasoline by three cents a gallon which was passed along to consumers.

Elsewhere in Canada prices were up generally by one cent a gallon from the Maritimes—where motorists are now paying 52 and 53 cents a gallon for premium gas—right through Quebec and Ontario. On the prairies no increases have been reported yet but they are expected.

ing Canada and of making "false" statements about the recent dollar devaluation arose out of reports he had read Tuesday in the Montreal Star and on the Canadian Press wires, emanating from Mr. Pearson's Kitchener meeting Monday. The Liberal leader had suggested that foreign central banks had poured millions of dollars worth of gold or United States currency into Canada in the past month to bolster the sagging Canadian dollar.

HIT HOME

The opposition leader said Canadians would be grateful but also ashamed because Canada's management of its affairs used to be the envy of the world. The Liberal leader's remarks obviously hit home and stung the prime minister into a heated reply.

"Mr. Pearson says Canada's government lost $500,000,000 before pegging the value of the dollar at 92.5 cents," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "I say that statement is false and Mr. Pearson knew it to be false when he made it."

He added, "we sold $500,000,000 of U.S. dollars for Canadian dollars and got the full market value for them. We sold the U.S. dollars from our reserves to keep the change in the exchange rate gradual."

This gradual reduction in the exchange rate which is now stabilized helped create more jobs.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had read in newspaper reports that Mr. Pearson had said that $62,000,000 of new money had been pumped into the exchange fund in May, $48,000,000 of it to keep the dollar from sagging and $14,000,000 to increase the fund.

Mr. Pearson had suggested that this total of $62,000,000 had probably come from the foreign banks.

PAYMENT BY U.S.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the $62,000,000 was "simply a payment by the U.S. for defence and other purchases, plus other payments. It was purely a routine transaction."

The prime minister noted that Pearson had said that what was happening was "not clear" to him. That, suggested, Mr. Diefenbaker, was the truest statement the Liberal leader had made. If the Liberal leader wanted the facts all he had to do was ask the Bank of Canada. This he obviously had not done, said Mr. Diefenbaker.

He claimed flood tide was coming in during recent days in favor of the Conservatives. The Winnipeg Tribune and The Vancouver Province had come out with editorials in his support.

DERBY

to go and then apparently faltered.

Prince d'Amour was the fifth Canadian hopeful to run in post-war derby races under the colors of Bell and McMahon. All finished out of the money.

Hethersett, a 9-to-2 favorite, owned by Britain's 81-year-old Maj. Lionel Holliday, was one of the horses felled in the tragic pileup at Tattenham's Longshot King Canute II, which also went down, broke a leg and had to be destroyed.

Others in the pile-up, unprecedented in the history of the Derby, were Pindarie, Changing Times, Romulus, Persian Fantasy, Crossen, and King Canute. Stewards of the course announced they were holding an inquiry into the accident.

Several of the jockeys who fell at Tattenham Corner lay unconscious on the track.

FELL IN PATH

Neville Sellwood, Australian jockey aboard the winner, said afterwards the horses fell right in the path of his horse.

"I had a wonderful escape," the winning jockey said. "I was nearly brought down, but I got through. When I got into the straight I knew I would win."

Ron Elliott, who rode Pindarie, was the first of the thrown jockeys to get back to the weighing-in room.

"It was a terrible sight," he said. "When I left the other jockeys, they were all in a state of unconsciousness."

WAS TERRIBLE

"I don't know who or what caused the fall, but it was a terrible experience."

Spectators, including women in summer dresses, clambered over the fences to give aid to the injured riders until ambulances arrived.

It appeared that the pileup started when Romulus ran under the heels of the horse ahead of him and was the first to fall. Six of the thrown jockeys were taken to hospital. Only Elliott trudged back to the weighing-in room without aid.

Of the jockeys in hospital, Harry Carr (Hethersett) had head injuries, Tommy Goslin (Changing Times) had concussion, Stan Smith (Persian Fantasy) concussion and a shoulder injury, Geoff Lewis (King Canute II) an injured right arm, and Maurice Larraun (Crossen) a cut arm.

Wally Swinburn, who rode Romulus, was picked up unconscious and was still under observation in hospital an hour later.

The winner, Larkspur, is a son of Never Say Die, a Kentucky stallion which won the Derby in 1954 and now stands at the stud in England. Never Say Die was owned by the late Robert Sterling Clark of New York when it won.

RICHARD NIXON
... faces Gov. Brown

Nixon Wins Easy Victory In Primary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon easily won the Republican nomination for governor of California Tuesday in a primary election and will face Governor Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, in the general elections next November.

Republicans chose Nixon as their nominee for governor by a margin of about 7 to 3 over Joseph C. Shell, a wealthy state assemblyman.

Democrats gave Brown a 7-to-1 vote of confidence over three little-known candidates. His showing, in an election with little to attract Democrats, almost equalled the combined Nixon-Shell total. Democratic registration outnumbered Republicans 4 to 3.

Results from Tuesday's balloting, both parties picked their candidates, dealt a setback to Republican right-wingers who staged a well-financed drive to block Nixon's political comeback and to dump Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, who won a runaway victory.

Three members of the John Birch Society won Republican nominations for Congress, however, all in Los Angeles County.

Nixon, narrowly defeated by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election, described Shell as a good barrier and expressed confidence the 43-year-old oilman would get behind him in the general election.

But Shell, who campaigned as a Conservative, held back any pledge of support except on his own terms—that Nixon embrace the principles he has espoused.

Ont. Vote Postponed By Death

OTTAWA (UPI)—The June 18 election in the Ontario sea-way riding of Stormont was postponed today following the death of Liberal candidate Albert P. Lavigne.

Lavigne, 53, was taken to Cornwall hospital during the weekend after suffering a slight heart attack. He died early this morning.

Stormont returning officer Alphonse H. Charron immediately postponed the election date, as required by law. He will set a new date, probably sometime in July, within a month.

Lavigne won the riding for the Liberals in a 1954 by-election and held it in 1957. He lost to Conservative Grant Campbell by fewer than 2,000 votes in 1958 and was given a good chance of recapturing the seat this time.

There was no immediate indication of how or when the Liberals would choose a new standard-bearer.

Tories, Grits Worship At Tight Money Alter

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Devaluation of the Canadian dollar was described by T. C. Douglas Tuesday night as a misstep which will lead to more economic stagnation and higher unemployment.

The New Democratic Party leader told an enthusiastic crowd of 1,400 packed into a snug auditorium that the government action last month to peg the dollar at 92.5 cents in United States funds means a situation of tight money and high interest rates just ahead.

"The Diefenbaker government has returned with a vengeance to the traditional Liberal-Tory policy of worshipping at the altar of tight money, bowing down before the gods of so-called sound finance and high interest rates," he declared.

"It has done so without regard to the crying need in Canada today for an expansionist policy of easy credit and low interest rates which is the only way to restore employment and get the economy moving."

It was Mr. Douglas' second overflow audience in two nights. He spoke to 3,600 at Glace Bay, N.S., Monday night. Today he flies to the Lakehead for a meeting there.

The barnstorming NDP chief drew his biggest cheers when he reaffirmed the party pledges to protect consumers from "the big monopolies," and renounce nuclear weapons.

He said that Canada will have nuclear weapons on its soil within 12 months if either the Conservatives or Liberals win the election. Both were evading the nuclear issue in the campaign by "deliberate double talk."

HALL IS FELL

Organizers had to work furiously to set up extra chairs and benches in the 900-seat auditorium of St. Peter's Roman Catholic High School, which already was full when the motorcade arrived there.

"We should have hired Memorial Arena and outdrawn Diefenbaker," said Walter Pitman, the Peterborough school teacher who was the only NDP member of the last Parliament. He won this seat in a 1960 byelection almost a year before the NDP was formally launched.

His reference was to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's meeting here the previous night which drew 3,500 to the 4,500-seat arena.

DEPLORES ROWDIES

Mr. Douglas said he deplores the rowdiness which has marked some of Mr. Diefenbaker's meetings, he added.

"There is no doubt in my mind that much of the feeling expressed at these meetings represents an outburst by unemployed people who are bitterly resentful because they feel they have been betrayed."

These were the people "who believed Mr. Diefenbaker four years ago when he said no one would suffer from unemployment while he was prime minister."

Major Navy Role In Liberal Plans

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson Tuesday described "absolutely false" Conservative charges the Liberals would reduce the Canadian navy to a mere support role.

"Victoria Liberal candidate Easter Isherwood read a telegram from Mr. Pearson to a meeting of 25 persons in George Jay School."

"The defence policy of the Liberal party is to create a highly efficient mobile Canadian defence force capable of playing its part on the sea, on land and in the air," it said.

"This force will be able to make a significant contribution to the defence of Canada and of the free world. It will be a force capable of doing its job for the preservation of peace at any point required by the United Nations."

"In such a force all the resources of our senior service—the Canadian navy—are envisaged. They are needed for combating submarines, for keeping open lines of communication, for maintaining the shield of North American defence."

Mr. Isherwood said charges that the Liberals would close down shipyards are "shear nonsense."

"Such stupid utterances show how irresponsible the mad flayings of the Conservatives are becoming."

He also attacked devaluation of the dollar.

"To say this has not affected the little man is even more callous and stupid."

"Trade Minister Hees' advice to not buy a Cadillac car or other luxury items is typical of the Conservative—hard-shell Bay Street promoter that he is."

WON'T BE FOOLED

Mr. Isherwood said he was sure the Canadian people would not be fooled by "such let them eat cake statements."

"Now we learn the price of bread is going up. How do the unemployed, the pensioners and those with fixed incomes counteract the rising price of staples such as bread? I guess they just don't buy a Cadillac car."

Tory 'Heavies' Tripping Over Themselves—Groos

Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal candidate David Groos Tuesday night poked fun at the support from Ottawa Conservative George Chatterton is getting in the current campaign.

Mr. Groos told an audience of 17 in Tillicum School: "It's getting a bit hard for me to keep track of all the Conservative dignitaries who are rushing out here these days and falling all over themselves to reveal their campaign secrets in heavily-billed 'major campaign speeches.'"

This was a reference to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's advertised rally in the arena last week. Finance Minister Fleming, Trade Minister Hees and Justice Minister Fulton have appeared in the riding already. External Affairs Minister Green "will be next."

Mr. Groos said that all the cabinet ministers who had visited Victoria recently had spoken on behalf of Mr. Chatterton. "I'm beginning to wonder if they still have a Victoria candidate," he said.

"I haven't found it necessary to call for help yet," he added, saying he was flattered by the fact the cabinet ministers were "all doing their shooting in my direction."

Mr. Groos criticized statements by Mr. Hees here on Friday night to the effect that "as long as we eat Canadian food and drive Canadian cars we won't feel any increase in the cost of living caused by the new 92½-cent Diefenbaker dollar."

He said Mr. Hees had forgotten to mention that Canadians should give up air travel which will go up 10 per cent in cost on June 19, as will the price of gas when the oil in the pipeline runs out. He also neglected to say how Canadians were to avoid using domestic wheat which is pushing the price of bread up by a cent.

"I am racking my brains to think of a good Canadian-grown substitute for tea and coffee or even a humble glass of lemonade for my kids this summer," he said.

Mr. Groos acknowledged that the trade minister's "buy Canadian" formula would keep down living costs.

"Doing without is certainly one way of keeping down the cost of living," he said.

Touching upon the question of nuclear arms for Canada, Mr. Groos said the 70 per cent vote against Mr. Chatterton in the by-election last year was against the acquisition of these arms by Canadian troops.

All other candidates had spoken out against a nuclear arms policy during that campaign.

Integration Really Works For Jamaicans

By IAN SMITH

Jamaica is one of the best examples in the world today of successful integration, according to Thomas Sherman, business manager of the island's only daily newspaper.

"We have all colors of people there, and there is no problem at all," said Mr. Sherman, who operates the Gleaner (a morning paper) and the Star (an afternoon tabloid). He is in Victoria on a holiday.

"If you go to a party at the governor's house you will find people of all shades—they are all absolutely friendly."

"No one worries about any difference."

Small Area

If there were any significant problems, it could mean a lot of trouble. Jamaica has 1,600,000 people of all races crammed into an area about half the size of Vancouver Island. Jamaica is 144 miles long and 46 miles wide.

"We actually have one problem," said Mr. Sherman, "although it isn't really bad—the Rastafarians. They feel that because the white man brought their ancestors from Africa as slaves, they should be able to go back to Africa."

"They're mostly religious fanatics, but a few hoodlums among them have caused some trouble."

Not Wanted

"The government has tried to find homes for them in Africa, but I don't think they can get any country there to take them. They probably will remain Jamaica's problem."

The problem is an embarrassing one for the government at this time, as the country achieves independence Aug. 6. At that time 300 years of British rule will end.

One of the major problems the government will have to face is one of illiteracy.

"Look at our population," says Mr. Sherman, "and we sell only 62,000 papers in the morning and 58,000 in the afternoon."

Big Effort

But the government is doing its best to combat the problem. "Education and housing has top priority in government spending," said Mr. Sherman. "Any child of school age during the last 10 years has been given an opportunity to learn to read and, if he is at all smart, will get an equivalent of your high school education."

A tremendous upsurge in the Jamaican economy in the last five years has helped the government program.

More Industry

"Jamaica in that time has probably expanded more than any other country in the world," he said. "There is a terrific accent on industry within the island, and the discovery of bauxite (from which aluminum is made) has revolutionized the economy."

"It has taken over from sugar as our main export."

Mr. Sherman, on a three-month tour of North America, has nothing but praise for Victoria's scenery—"but we have less rain than you, I think. We get all ours in May and October, but you seem to get yours at all times."

KIPLING FOLLOWERS Mrs. D. B. Dunbar (President) and Mrs. A. E. G. Cornwell (Secretary) find a tough quote for reply to Kipling Society's unique roll call.

THEY READ HIM, QUOTE HIM, DISCUSS HIM

Kipling Lovers ... Forever!

By JILL ARLETT

Although the sharp tongue of Rudyard Kipling died almost 26 years ago—now to remain only in volumes of poetry and verse, the words of the famous "Empire Poet" are still repeated with a certain dignity and meaning by some 20 Kipling lovers in Victoria.

Surrounded by shelves of well-used old leather volumes of Kipling's works, the group gathers once monthly at a member's home to read, quote, discuss, memorize or learn more about their favorite writer.

ONLY ONE

The Kipling Society, Victoria Branch, was founded in 1933 by the late A. E. G. Cornwell. The society, a branch of many Kipling groups in England, is the only one of its kind in Canada.

Theirs is no ordinary meeting. It begins with a Prayer: "Grant, O Lord, that our readings and discussions bring refreshment to our spirits; that at all times we may be true to Thee, to Her Majesty the Queen, to our country, and be ever ready to help our fellow men," followed by roll call—a chain of events not unlike the public schools' morning agenda.

REPLY WITH QUOTE

To justify their presence at the Kipling meeting, members are required to answer the roll call in a rather novel manner. After their name is called, they reply with a quote from Kipling, while the others attempt to guess its source.

Unusual in the projects launched by the club was the knitting of socks during the Second World War for men on the HMS Kipling—which later sank near the end of the war.

ANNUAL DINNER

It isn't enough that they join forces in praise of Kipling once monthly—they celebrate his birthday too.

The occasion calls for an annual dinner on or near the poet's birthday—Dec. 30th—with special speakers, and, of course, a toast to Kipling.

Civic Body to Pursue Professional Status

British Columbia municipal officers were urged Monday to continue efforts to become a professional association.

Meeting at the Empress Hotel for their 23rd annual conference were 130 delegates to the Municipal Officers' Association of B.C.

President R. N. Chester, clerk of Surrey, reported on the past year's activities at the start of the three-day meeting to which delegates were welcomed by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

Wesley Black, minister of municipal affairs, and his deputy, J. E. Brown, were introduced to the conference. The association should include all municipal officials in a single professional group rest gave the conference a paucity of clerks, treasurers, so per on the Superannuation Act.

ASSESSORS ADAMANT

He reported on discussions held with the B.C. Association of Assessors, in which he said he was unable to convince them of the merits of joining the Municipal Officers' Association as proposed.

During the year, Mr. Chester said, finishing touches were put on a bill of incorporation, but it has not yet been presented to the legislature.

He noted the association is growing, from 94 members in 1950 to 121 last year. The president recommended establishment of a pension committee to examine such matters as increased officer's contributions to a pension fund, before the Superannuation Act is reviewed next year.

Provincial commissioner of municipal pensions W. H. Forster gave the conference a paucity of clerks, treasurers, so per on the Superannuation Act.

"Perfection consists not in doing extraordinary things, but in doing ordinary things extraordinarily well."

UNDER-AGED SOCRD DISQUALIFIED

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—William Joseph Bowe of St. John's has been disqualified as Social Credit candidate in the St. John's West riding because he is too young.

Returning officer William Stoyles said Tuesday it was found Mr. Bowe would not be 21 until Aug. 4. The Canada Election Act says candidates must be "of the full age of 21 years."

Mr. Stoyles discovered Mr. Bowe's age when he checked church records.

"He seemed to think he was going to be 22 this August, but he's only going to be 21," Mr. Stoyles said. "He's disappointed, but he says he's reconciled to the situation."

DAVID GROOS Esquimalt-Saanich Liberal Candidate REPORTS ON THE ELECTION

It's getting a bit hard for me to keep track of all the Conservative dignitaries who are rushing out here these days and falling all over themselves to reveal their campaign secrets in heavily-billed "Major Campaign Speeches." I notice almost all of them are calling on behalf of their Esquimalt-Saanich candidate. "Do they still HAVE a Victoria candidate? First of all there was Mr. Fleming (you all know who HE is!). Then there was the Prime Minister. Mr. Hees came next, closely followed by Mr. Fulton, and still to come is Mr. Green. I haven't found it necessary to call for "help" yet and it makes me feel pretty good to find I am supposed to be such a threat to the Sitting Member. I wouldn't be able to say this if I didn't notice that the Cabinet Ministers do all their shooting in my direction while they are out here. I'm glad to be noticed."

DEs Leave Friday For South

Four destroyer-escorts of the RCN Pacific Command leave at 4 p.m. Friday for a month-long cadet training cruise in California waters.

Thirty-two Regular Officer Training Plan cadets will sail in HMC Ships Ottawa, Saguenay, Fraser, and Margaree, with Long Beach, San Diego and San Francisco as ports of call. In that area, they will carry out a series of exercises with units of the U.S. Navy.

The cadets, who came from homes across Canada, will concentrate on engineering and weapons training.

The destroyers will return to Esquimalt July 8, and on July 16 continue the ROTP training with navigation and pilotage exercises in northern B.C. coastal areas. They will visit Century 21 at Seattle Aug. 3, returning to Esquimalt Aug. 6.

Two cadets from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, will join the cruise on an exchange basis.

Lt. Dick Hitesman, Winnipeg, is in charge of the cadet training program.

Censure Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. and Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce, in convention here, Sunday voted against censuring the Social Credit government for its take-over of the B.C. Electric Company. Members, however, were unanimous in a resolution stating the government should accept legal liability.

For you who demand coffee in its traditional form

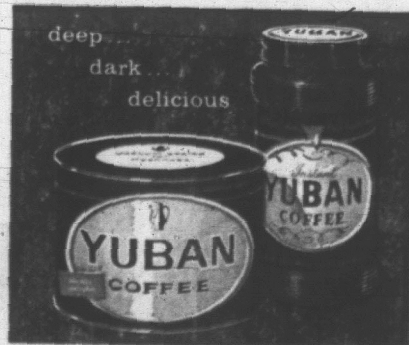

We present Regular Yuban—the world's richest coffee

There is an inner circle of coffee lovers who demand their beverage in its traditional form. It is for them that we present Regular Yuban. This is the exact coffee first brewed by John Arbuckle, New York's "Coffee King", for his private use at the turn of the century. The unique Yuban blend (which many have already enjoyed in its instant form) is a combination of the most costly Latin American coffee beans... choice Medellinos, rich Coatepecs, Fancy Santos and rare aged Bucaramangas.

Naturally, such flavour is protected in a vacuum sealed tin

The same meticulous care which characterises the blending of this fine coffee was exercised in the selection of the package. The vacuum-sealed tin was chosen as the only one that gives the superlative fragrance and flavour of Regular Yuban the complete protection it deserves. Demand Yuban. A costlier coffee, but there is no other coffee like it in the world.

LEADERSHIP that is firm in principle; Leadership on the side of the average man; Leadership dedicated to helping the weak and oppressed, ranged against the self-interests of the powerful.

After 22 years of Liberal rule, John Diefenbaker restored the Government of Canada to the people. His policies are devoted to the interests of the average man; his program means fair shares in the nation's growth and prosperity for all parts of Canada. His purpose is one Canada, united, free and independent.

John Diefenbaker brought a new era of Social Justice and Human Betterment to the Canadian people, putting an end to the Liberal "six-buck" mentality which, in an era of uncontrolled inflation, meant distress and suffering to tens of thousands of Old Age Pensioners, Veterans, Disabled Persons and their families.

Until John Diefenbaker restored Parliament as the free voice of the nation, "divine right" Liberals rode rough-shod over Canada's parliamentary traditions and powerful bureaucrats flaunted the rights of the people.

Until John Diefenbaker brought a new deal to Agriculture, the Canadian farmer was denied markets for his produce, while his income fell below subsistence levels. Mountains of unsold wheat once loomed over the Canadian economy; today, Canada is the largest wheat for cash nation in the world.

The dead hand of defeatism was removed from Canada's Trade and Commerce Department. In 1961, Canada sold more goods abroad than she imported for the first time in nine years...an overall change of nearly $900 Million.

The Diefenbaker Government gave Canadians title to their own natural resources. After years of Liberal neglect and default, the people of Canada are today rightfully sharing in the wealth of their own inheritance.

The Government of John Diefenbaker gave the Atlantic Provinces new measures of equality and opportunity. While leading Liberal centralists recommended the expulsion of "surplus" Maritimers from their native provinces, and advised cutting off further aid to the coal industry, John Diefenbaker acted on the just claims of the Atlantic area for a fair deal.

Canada's Prime Minister spoke out for the captive nations of the world, enslaved by Communist colonialism; upheld principle in the Commonwealth by standing firmly against racial discrimination; gave Canada's Indian population the full franchise...a basic right long denied them. His has been the consistent voice speaking for those who must be voiceless because of tyranny, discrimination and prejudice.

John Diefenbaker has the continuing trust of the Canadian people; his courage, principle, wisdom and compassion are the qualities of leadership Canada needs to achieve her national destiny.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Highways Minister Gagliardi of B.C. Tuesday compared NDP Leader T. C. Douglas with an Irish elf.

Mr. Gagliardi, campaigning for the federal Social Credit party, said here in an interview: "Douglas is making such fantastic claims. He sounds like an Irish elf who has fallen out of the sky, landed on a four-leaf clover and is drinking mountain dew."

"He fits himself into every situation and pulls answers out of a hat. Nobody can believe such foolishness."

AUSTRIAN AUTOPSY SHOWS

No Foul Play in Spy's Death

VIENNA (Reuters) — A preliminary investigation Tuesday showed no sign of foul play in the death Monday of a Hungarian counter-intelligence agent who escaped to Austria last month.

An autopsy showed that the agent, Lieut. Bela Lapusnyik, 24, died of "paralysis of the brain." Austrian police said there was not the "slightest indication of an unnatural death."

He died a few days before he was to be flown to the United States.

The autopsy showed indications of inflamed intestines and pneumonia in early stages, a police statement said.

Lapusnyik escaped to Austria May 9 by leaping over a border barrier as Hungarian frontier guards fired at him.

On Saturday he was admitted to a closely-guarded hospital here with what physicians diagnosed as tonsillitis. His condition grew steadily worse until he died.

Soviets Allow Record

SOCHI, Soviet Union (AP) — Apparently plodded by the U.S. embassy, Soviet authorities relaxed their restrictions on Benny Goodman Tuesday night and allowed American companies to film and record a concert here by his band. The Russians had stopped an RCA Victor recording team and an NBC television crew from taping a performance by Goodman and his band Monday night in this Black Sea resort town.

CAMPAIGN A FAILURE SO FAR

S.A. Goes All Out to Lure White Settlers

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The immigration department disclosed it has asked Glyn Morris, general manager of the organization called the 1820 Memorial Settlers Association, to go overseas on a recruiting mission with the object of trying to bring 40,000 to 50,000 new settlers to South Africa each year. Morris said such a number is necessary to reach the goal of a white population of 10,000,000 in South Africa by the end of the century. The census last year showed only 3,000,000 whites against nearly five times as many non-whites in this segregated white-ruled country, and the non-whites are increasing fastest. Last year, even with financial inducements, South Africa managed to gain only 1,306 more whites than it lost by emigration. Immigrants accepted under the new plan are entitled outright to a grant of £30 a person plus interest-free loans up to £30 repayable in two years. Part of their fares also are paid by the government.

'Distortion, Deception, Disruption'

By FRANK RUTTER

Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton Tuesday night accused the Liberal party and "Liberal papers" across Canada of waging a federal election campaign of distortion, deception and disruption.

He renewed Tory war with the press before a crowd of 200—half of them school students—at Shawigan Lake Community Hall.

Mr. Fulton said the Liberals will "stop at virtually nothing" to regain power as Canada's government.

He blamed them for contributing to the roughhouse at headmaster Ned Larsen spoke.

'The True Arch of Freedom'

Mr. Fulton upheld Mr. Diefenbaker as "the true arch of freedom," a man who had stood for freedom of speech as no other Canadian, and who was personally responsible for "his dream" of a bill of rights coming true.

At the end of his speech he presented framed copies of the bill to the head prefects of the three local private schools who had about 100 students at the meeting—Shawigan Lake School for Boys, Strathcona Lodge school for girls and Brentwood College.

The crowd was sympathetic and orderly while Mr. Fulton—introduced by Shawigan

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Vancouver rally last Wednesday, and linked them to Communists there.

Isn't it a pity that a number of Liberals present at the rally—there for a demonstration—allowed themselves to be associated with Communists to prevent the prime minister being heard?

"The tactics are distortion, deception and disruption."

Reference to Grits 'Pulled'

Mr. Fulton then turned to the newspapers.

He said Vancouver Sun reporter Bill Galt wrote a story which appeared in the paper's first edition saying "some young Liberals and young Communists were involved" in the fighting at Vancouver.

But in all later editions this reference was "pulled."

"The Vancouver Sun is a Liberal newspaper and I leave you to draw your own conclusions."

"This is another example of the same tactics: deception and distortion."

He then cited "another example," a story in the Sun which said Vancouver Centre Conservative candidate Douglas Jung was attempting to prevent names of 170 persons appearing on the voters' list.

The Liberals were being "arrogant" by claiming to "have all the answers."

Mr. Fulton accused them of "cynicism and distortion and absence of consistency and principle."

He admitted this was "serious criticism" and that he had used "pretty stern words."

So he cited another example of what he called "political dishonesty"—Liberal reaction to latest devaluation of the dollar to 82½ cents.

In 1960 Liberal economic expert Walter Gordon had advocated devaluation, he said.

The move was not a sudden step, it followed policy announced in last June's budget when the dollar was cut to 95 cents.

And the results had been: a favorable export trade balance, substantial benefits to four important B.C. industries: cattle, lumber, fruit and tourist.

He said politics should be "an honest business" and elections based on fair, honest and free discussion of issues.

"The Conservatives have not broken faith with these principles of the bill of rights."

DOCTOR ASKS KIWANIS

Would You Accept Control by Gov't?

Is it right, just, or fair, to force any profession into complete subjugation, in which its professional conscience and ethics could be completely under the control of politicians?

This was the question posed by Dr. Gordon D. Howden of Nanaimo in his talk Tuesday on "Government and Medical Care in Saskatchewan" to the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Howden said the controversial Saskatchewan Medical Insurance Act virtually excluded the private practice of medicine.

"The act also provides a single compulsory insurance mechanism for all residents, which effectively precludes the continuation of voluntary forms of insurance," he said.

Dr. Howden pointed out that the doctors in Saskatchewan have presented two separate plans to the provincial government, either of which they're prepared to work under.

"The first is a system of selective aid to the needy elements of the population... this system is used in several West-European countries."

"The second is the reimbursement system, copied, in part from the plan working successfully in Australia," he said.

EVERYTHING'S ROSY, CHATTERTON CLAIMS

Esquimalt-Saanich Conservative George Chatterton said Tuesday he hoped the voters won't "be taken in" by opposition claims that the Tories have "ruined" Canada.

Speaking at Shawigan Lake Community Hall with Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton, the Esquimalt-Saanich candidate said he could find no local ruin.

"Instead, he said, the picture is this: Employment at Fairway Aviation has doubled to 200, there is a shortage of skilled men, and a devalued dollar has increased contracts with U.S. firms for a press and Alaska Airlines servicing."

Shipyards are "booming and the future is very bright."

"Contractors are so busy they won't stop and talk to me."

The local fruit crop is all sold before harvesting; There is not one unemployed employable person on Saanich welfare rolls;

The tourist business is also booming because of the devalued dollar.

ON COLUMBIA BENEFITS

B.C. Stand 'Modified'

The B.C. government has apparently backed down from its stand that Columbia River downstream power benefits must be sold in the U.S. on long-term contracts, Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton said Tuesday.

He didn't mention the Columbia in his hour-long Shawigan Lake speech, but answered a question from the floor afterwards.

"I am glad to be able to report the result in the most recent discussions—last April appears to modify the position of the B.C. government with respect to long-term disposal of benefits," said Mr. Fulton.

He said on his last visit to Victoria there had been a modification but at that time he didn't define it at all.

Sale of the benefits had been the major point of discord in B.C.-Ottawa negotiations.

Mr. Fulton said if the Conservatives are elected he hoped for a speedy agreement with B.C. and early ratification of the Columbia treaty with the U.S. by Parliament.

Asked about the Peace River power project, Mr. Fulton said it was "entirely a provincial development and its problems and benefits are those for the province to settle."

EARTH MOVERS CHURN NEW ROUTES TO PLANES, FERRIES

Travellers heading for Victoria to catch planes at Victoria International Airport, or ferries at Sidney and Swartz Bay, are well advised to allow a little extra time for possible detours and single-lane

sweeps east of the present route, starting at the junction of Lochside Road, the alternate route to Sidney. Construction work now going on involves monstrous machines levelling off ground, removing fill, as well as blacktopping sections of roads near airport. Future airport traffic will proceed on present No. 17, ferry traffic for B.C. mainland, Anacortes and Gulf Island on new highway.

MONTE ROBERTS

After the campaign to change the name of Foul Bay Road successfully went away somewhere, never, presumably, to return, we who watch over the ramparts felt we could curl up with a good book and enjoy a well-earned rest.

Life, we realized, was not all tea and crumpets, but still, tea and crumpets had their place, and we meant to take advantage of them.

And so, while we who watch over the ramparts of Oak Bay were taking advantage of tea, crumpets, a good book, and a well-earned rest, what was happening?

Another invasion of Oak Bay was happening, that was what was happening.

I jape you not, as Jonathan Paar might have said, had he been a citizen of Oak Bay.

Read, if you will, this chilling news item from Tuesday's Times:

"A creeping growth known as Japanese clover is on the march in Oak Bay, council was warned Monday night.

"Coun. J. D. Watts asked if the engineer had anything to report on weeds and whether an emergency program was being undertaken to combat a boulevard infestation.

"He said Japanese clover seems to be taking over, especially on Monterey."

And to think all this has been happening while we, who watch over the ramparts, have been curled up with a good crumpet, asleep at the switch, blinking drowsily as the Trojan Horse trotted by.

Gad, chaps, consider it. The stately oaks of Old England endangered by an infiltration of Japanese clover.

Wisterias whistling vainly for help.

Rhododendrons forced out into the road.

Lillies of the valley chased into the alley.

Could this have happened on Old Monterey?

It is time we who are charged with the honor of guarding the ramparts of Oak Bay, sprang into action, and wrote a letter to the editor, or something.

Because it must be remembered, one must never underestimate Japanese clover when it is on the march.

As the wise man might have put it many centuries ago: DEUCED CLOVER, THE JAPANESE.

FOR OUTSTANDING WORK and achievement during the year, Nancy Miller, 8705 Aldous Terrace (left), and Jane Elliott, 3335 Parker, were named at a Saanich 4-H Home Arts Club dinner-meeting Tuesday to represent South Vancouver Island at the Pacific National Exhibition in August. They are shown with Miss Lorna Michael, B.C. home arts supervisor (right). The two girls will compete in dress making, sewing and cooking competitions at the exhibition. — (Photo by Dorothy Kennedy.)

Band Shell Refused New Party

Request for the use of Cameron band shell in Beacon Hill Park for a New Democratic Party political rally was turned down today by city parks committee.

"Are we going to legislate free speech in this council?" asked Ald. A. W. Toome, who opposed the decision.

"This is a public park," he said, arguing that the speaker's corner—set aside for the use of anyone who has things to say in public—is for individuals.

"This is an organization asking for the use of the band shell," Ald. Toome said.

The local NDP organization had as much right to the shell as a university group wanting to talk about nature, or any other body, he said.

City manager C. C. Wyatt pointed out there is no restriction on the use of the "soapbox" area during five months of the year, including the time proposed by Mrs. May Campbell, in a letter from the NDP association.

He said he went through the files and found no precedent for such a political meeting in the park.

"It is a matter of policy as to whether or not political parties should use the park," he said.

Man Accused Of Trying To Forge Paper Immigration Case Remanded for Week

A 45-year-old man was charged in city police court today with two counts of attempting to forge an immigration document.

Peter Chong, also known as Chong Wong Ming, of 817 Kings, is accused of attempting to have John Moore print a facsimile of a letterhead of the immigration branch of the department of citizenship and immigration, at the end of last year with intent to permit a person to enter the colony of Hong Kong from the Republic of China.

The second count refers to an attempt to have Duncan Macaulay to do the printing.

Defence counsel Joseph McKenna, Q.C., asked Magistrate William Ostler to remand Chong for a week without plea and asked for bail.

"The accused has lived in Victoria for the greater part of his life, is married, has seven children, and has been employed by Yarrow's for many years," the lawyer said.

Special prosecutor W. Berkeley Monteith asked for a $1,000 cash bail and, Magistrate Ostler agreed. The charge carries a maximum penalty of seven years in prison.

UTAH CHOIR HERE TONIGHT

Another Seattle World Fair attraction has found its way to Victoria.

It is the Ogden Choral which will perform tonight at 8 at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at 2990 Quadra Street.

A Mormon group from Ogden, Utah, the choir sings selections in the manner of the famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

The Ogden singers, who performed at the World Fair Monday and at Vancouver, Tuesday, included Victoria in their itinerary only at last-minute notice this morning when they learned of possible interest in this city.

A two-hour program of classical and light music is planned tonight.

Home Went Up 'Like a Bomb'

Four persons escaped in night attire early this morning when fire roared through a city home.

Asleep at 1417 Camosun were Mrs. Thelma Bean, her sons Daryl, 6, and Michael, 20 months, and lodger Albert Lundgren.

Mr. Lundgren, whose bedroom is in the basement, woke up shortly after 3 a.m. and saw smoke coming through a wall.

He ran upstairs to arouse Mrs. Bean and her child, then ran next door to call the fire department.

Then he ran back to see what he could salvage of his belongings but couldn't get anywhere near his room for flames and smoke.

"The house went up in just a few seconds," he said. "I don't know what made me wake up but I'm sure glad I did."

Mr. Lundgren—a CNR seaman—first thought he was still on board ship, he said, and began to look for an extinguisher.

Then he ran to telephone the fire department from the house next door.

"I dialled for the operator but I couldn't get through," he said.

"LIKE A BOMB"

The firemen were summoned eventually by Barry Trimble who lives across the street at 1422 Camosun.

His wife said the building "went up like a bomb."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ken Stuart of Sacramento, Calif., will speak on the topic of "Multiple Listing" when the Victoria Real Estate Board holds its meeting in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel at noon Friday.

More than 1,100 passengers from Seattle arrived here aboard the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Marguerite at noon today.

"We handled a similar number Monday and Tuesday," a C.P.R. spokesman said.

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau estimates that the city's current tourist traffic is about equal to that of July last year.

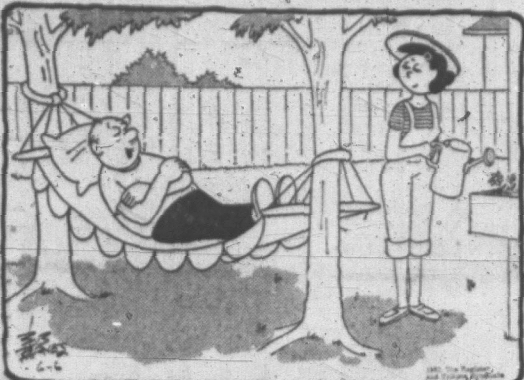

Victoria and southern Vancouver Island was the most favored area of the Pacific coast today with bright sunshine all morning and temperatures rising to 55 degrees at noon.

By contrast, it was cloudy and cool at Nanaimo and a belt of rain spread northward from Comox to Port Hardy and up the coast to Prince Rupert.

Vancouver had a mixture of sun and cloud and it was generally cloudy in Seattle.

Practical Suggestions As Dad's Day Draws Near

By PENNY SAVER

In the very best tradition, Penny suggests that you honor Dad on Father's Day, June 17, with a gift that will be extremely helpful to mother or keep father busy in the garden. Shoe stand that I saw in one store falls into the first category. It stands about a foot high (not intended as a pun) and has on top a rubber foot rest shaped to accommodate dad's shoe while he polishes it. Under this are sections in which to store polish, brushes, shining cloths, and the like. No mess for Mom to clean up after this operation and no need for her to hunt frantically through cupboards for tins of polish that fathers never seem to be able to find.

Stand, which sells for $1.98, is of polythene plastic and is "almost unbreakable." It bears a made in Canada label.

Anybody can mow a lawn, but father is better at clipping the messy edges. At least you can tell him that when you give him a pair of grass clippers on Father's Day. Clippers have long rubber handles and equally long steel blades. Price is $2.49.

If, while planning all this work for father, you begin to feel sorry for him, there are some garden shears which may be operated with only one hand. Pushing together the spring-based handles opens and closes steel blades. Barely any elbow action is necessary. Price for this muscle saver is $3.25.

If you are short of ideas for gifts for father on his day, give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131 for name of stores where these items may be found.

June is Month to Eat Strawberries

There's no use trying to think of a lot of high-powered adjectives to describe strawberries. They are simply one of the most delicious, most fragrant, most decorative of all foods eaten by man. They are as high in Vitamin C as they are low in calories.

It was Cardinal Wolsey, they say, back in the days of Henry VIII, who first poured cream over strawberries and then, m-m-m-d and a-h-a-h-d as he spooned them up. That's probably still the preferred treatment. That, or maybe old-fashioned biscuit-dough strawberry shortcakes.

But, of course, there are all manner of delightful things to do with fine, fresh strawberries. If you want to show off their ruby perfection, set whole berries—matched for size, if possible—in tart shells and spoon a glaze over them. Or, if you have two ice cube trays free, why not make fresh strawberry mousse? It's as easy as mixing crushed berries and whipped cream and letting the mixture freeze until firm.

If you must always get dinner on the double, including dessert, treat the family to a strawberry sundae: crushed berries spilling over store-bought ice cream. This same sauce is delicious over slices of sponge or angel cake, too.

Here are the recipes:

STRAWBERRY TARTS
One qt. fresh strawberries (small to medium), ¼ cup sugar, 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, dash salt, 1 cup water, 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract, heavy cream, whipped or sour cream.

Wash strawberries, remove caps and drain while making glaze. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in a 3-cup saucepan. Add in water. Stir and cook 6 to 8 minutes or until mixture is clear and has thickened. Remove from heat and add lemon juice and pure vanilla extract. Cool slightly. Arrange whole strawberries, stem end down, in cold baked tart shells. Spoon glaze over the top. Refrigerate to set glaze. Top with whipped cream or sour cream. Yield: Six servings.

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE
One quart fresh strawberries, ½ cup sugar, dash salt, ¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped. Select 8 ripe strawberries and set aside to use as a garnish, leaving caps attached. Wash remaining berries and remove caps. Drain. Mash and add sugar, salt and pure vanilla extract. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into 2 ice cube trays or a 6-cup casserole. Place in freezer until firm and ready to serve. Garnish with whole fresh strawberries, leaving caps attached. Yield: Eight servings.

STRAWBERRY MELBA
One quart fresh strawberries, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup fresh orange juice, fresh mint sprigs. Wash and remove caps from strawberries. Place in a bowl and sprinkle with sugar. Add orange juice, mix gently and chill at least two hours. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with sprigs of fresh mint. Yield: Six servings.

STRAWBERRY SAUCE

Two cups (1 pint) fresh strawberries, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice.

Wash strawberries, remove caps and drain. Mash berries. Add sugar, pure vanilla extract and lemon juice. Chill. Serve over cake or use as a topping for ice cream, custard puddings and other fruit desserts. Yield: 1½ cups.

STRAWBERRY COMPOTE

One quart fresh strawberries, ½ cup sugar, 1 cup water, dash salt, ¼ teaspoon pure vanilla extract.

Wash strawberries and remove caps. Place in sherbet dishes. Combine sugar, water and salt in a 3-cup saucepan. Bring to boiling point, lower heat and cook two minutes. Remove from heat and stir in pure vanilla extract. Spoon three tablespoons syrup over each serving. Chill and serve. Yield: six servings.

CUSTARD SAUCE

One quart (4 cups) fresh strawberries, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 2 teaspoons water, 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, ¼ cup pure vanilla extract, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind, optional.

Wash strawberries, remove caps and cut each in half. Add sugar and cook five minutes over low heat. Press through a fine sieve, rubbing as much pulp through as possible. Blend cornstarch with water and add to the berry pulp. Stir and cook 5 to 6 minutes or until the mixture begins to thicken and is clear. Remove from heat. Beat a little of the hot mixture into the egg yolks and then add to remaining hot mixture. Stir and cook one minute. Do not boil. Add pure vanilla extract and orange rind, if desired. Serve over ice cream, cake, orange or grapefruit sections, pineapple or rhubarb desserts. Yield: 2½ cups.

Fresh strawberry tarts are as good as they are beautiful; an elegant and easy dessert.

DEAR ABBY...

Danger Signals!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend named Dora. Her husband is a "wife-chaser." Red doesn't care what he chases as long as she's married. He says it is dangerous for a married man to run around with single girls. One of them might take him seriously. When a married woman takes up with a married man, she "knows it's all in fun."

Dora is a very quiet, religious type and has never caught on to Red's chasing. Should we tell her? Or should we let her find out for herself? The wife is always the last to know. She might be able to straighten him out before some woman's husband shoots him. He is now chasing me.

DORA'S FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: I don't believe that when a man "chases" his wife is always the last to know. (She may be the last to admit it.) Since Red is chasing YOU, why don't you straighten him out before your husband sees Red?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 14 and very big for his age. We aren't the kind of people who talk openly about every subject in the world, if you know what I mean. Lately our son has been asking me a lot of questions about life and so forth. I tell him to ask his father, but his father tells him to ask me. Whose job do you think this is?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: It's father's job. But one of you had better hurry up and tell the boy what he wants to know or it will be like giving a fish a bath!

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument on a point of etiquette? I once read that it was acceptable for a woman to sit and embroider or knit while "with friends." Recently I wanted to take my knitting along when we went to call on some friends and my husband told me to leave it home as it might be considered rude. I've seen women knitting and embroidering at all kinds of social gatherings and I never gave it a second thought. I'd like your opinion. LIKES TO KNIT

DEAR LIKES: There is nothing "rude" about knitting or embroidering while conversing with friends. (If there is any "needling" done, at least it's done in the open.)

Critics of Improvements In Penal Institutions, 'Poorly Informed'

OTTAWA (CP)—Those who criticize improvements in penal institutions aren't aware of the constant reminders to a prisoner that he is not free, says Mary Louise Lynch, only woman member of the National Parole Board.

Speaking in an interview in defence of efforts to improve living and working conditions, she listed some of the things a person doesn't see until he has been exposed to them.

"Most important was the inescapable fact that a prisoner wasn't free.

Then there was the food, wholesome, but nevertheless with a certain monotony.

And the lack of privacy in a penal institution was something the ordinary person seldom experienced to the same degree.

Even when a prisoner is put on parole, Miss Lynch said, some of the controls remain. A parolee required permission to get married, buy a car, obtain credit, move from one place to another, change jobs. He had to report periodically to a supervisor or the police, and abstinence was usually a parole condition.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

She Used Helpful Tricks To Keep Herself Reducing

I want to share with you part of a very heart warming and inspiring letter which has just come to me.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: 'You deserve part of the credit for what I have done the last nine weeks. Last January I went to the doctor for my yearly check-up. Hubby went along. My description of myself is 'a head on a hunk of fat.' At that time I was O.K., except for being very tired and a little anaemic. Who wouldn't be tired? I weighed 197½ pounds.

"Hubby asked the doctor about my weight and he said 'Let's forget it for a while. I have always had some intestinal trouble and cannot eat much roughage. When I left that office I was pretty mad, and determined, too. I knew that I was no longer plump, but just plain fat!'

"The following day I looked for all the clippings of your articles which I kept in a box. All day I read your articles and booklets and that night I told my husband that I was starting to count calories. I measured and counted everything that went into my mouth, keeping my daily calorie count to between 1000 and 1200.

So on January 21, 1962, I started. I kept a notebook by my plate at the table and wrote the number of calories down at each meal. In fact it stays there all the time. I do not care how it looks because it is my dearest possession. Now, nine weeks later, I weigh 181, having lost 16½ pounds. I am still fat and am going to keep at it.

"The things that pleased me so is the fact that I did not cut out food from my usual

Simonne Daigneault Heads Press Women

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Women's Press Club on Monday elected its first French-Canadian president since 1907.

Simonne Daigneault, Montreal, editor of the French edition of Contact, an employee publication of Canadian Industries Ltd., was named Monday to head the 600-member club.

Also elected to the national executive at the club's triennial general meeting in the Royal Alexandra Hotel here were: Mildred Jeffery, Vancouver, vice-president; Kathleen Mathers, Toronto, historian-archivist, and the following provincial directors: Nikki Moif, Vancouver; Shirley Higginson, Calgary; Sheila Stuart, Regina; Gwen Leslie, Winnipeg; Dorcas Ballantyne, London; Fernand Saint-Martin, Montreal; Vera Ayliff, Moncton, and Margaret Colpitts, Halifax.

way of eating, but I have measured and do not overeat any more. I used to eat four or five bananas while watching TV. Now I have tea and have crocheted five handsome dollies.

"After two weeks I had a partner. My hubby decided he was too fat so now we both are calorie counters. It's wonderful to wrap my dresses around me. My zippers close without trouble and my dresses hang from the shoulders. Hubby's favorite suit fits him again. We are both so happy over it.

"I give myself little goals to shoot for. Now that everything is measured I give myself a little bonus now and then as my weight goes down, for being a good girl. When I had lost 12½ pounds, an onion roll was my reward. (I used to eat three at a meal.) When I weigh 175 pounds, I shall reward myself with a piece of cheesecake."

Isn't that an interesting letter? This reader just naturally used several helpful tricks such as dividing the long reducing routine up into short goals to shoot for, and then allowing herself a small reward. The notebook by her plate is also a fine idea. AND it is more fun if you have a partner.

If any of you missed my 9-Day Diet, which ran recently in this newspaper, you may order the 9-Day Diet booklet. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Grey Nun Receives High Award

EDMONTON — Mother Berthe Dorais, famous for her heroic work during the great Winnipeg flood, was Tuesday named 1962 winner of the George Findlay Stephens Memorial Award for distinguished hospital service.

Mother Dorais, who was flown to Edmonton for the presentation, was administrator of the St. Boniface General Hospital during the Red River flood of 1950, when both the hospital and the sanatorium were surrounded by water.

A long remembered tribute to her work under those hectic conditions was paid by an army flood controller who said "my best soldier is a nun."

H. C. Manning made the presentation at the CHA convention banquet at which the Grey Nun shared the spotlight with the Alberta premier.

Jack's Party Knocks Telly Ratings

LONDON (AP)—Jack Ford hates television so much that he spent £100 ($306) to separate his relatives and close friends from their sets for a day.

"The telly (TV) has ruined our family life," said bachelor Ford in an interview. "I hardly ever see my relatives these days and I put it all down to the telly."

So, feeling this way about the goggle-box, he began saving his money for a special cause.

Last week his savings reached £100. He hired a bus, issued invitations, bought prizes and organized outdoor games.

City Actors Rewarded Up North

Vancouver's Margaret Rushor Award for excellence in visual and technical production was awarded to Victoria's Old Vic Players on Saturday night in Dawson Creek as the four-day B.C. One-Act Drama Festival ended.

Michael Stephen, 602 Newport, won honorable mention for his acting in the Old Vic production of J. M. Synge's play, Riders to the Sea, and director Gwen Hewlings was named one of the festival's leading directors.

A stand-in for Gordon Longmuir, who was unable to make the Dawson Creek trip, Mr. Stephen starred in Victoria College's production of She Stoops to Conquer, Goldsmith's classic, in the spring.

Miss Hewlings, a former drama teacher at Esquimalt High School, is director of the 16-member Old Vic Players.

Anne Adamson of the provincial government's recreation branch was awarded the 1962 Hamber Trophy for outstanding contributions to drama, jointly with Don Rush of Vancouver.

Adjudicator Herbert Whitaker, drama critic for the Toronto Globe and Mail, awarded the Challenge Cup for the best original drama to a Nanaimo man, Tom Walsh.

Sunday was the day of his party.

WORTH EVERY PENNY

"It was worth every penny just to see their smiling faces — out in the sunshine," he said.

He took his party of 45, including his mother, to the East Coast resort of Clacton-On-Sea.

Ford, 37, a decorator, said he also invited close friends. "They'd been sitting around their tellys too," he added, "and I hadn't been seeing them either."

Ford's away-from-the-TV party began at 8 a.m.

"I called it a mystery trip and I offered prizes to the ones who came closest to guessing our destination."

The prizes ranged from an electric clock to kitchen ware. He said that when his relatives and friends returned to their homes Sunday night, many of them said they were too tired to watch T.V.

"That's two ways of keeping them away from the sets," commented Ford.

Plea of Guilty In Assault On Policeman

A Nanaimo man who pushed a city policeman against a parked car and then tried to hit him was remanded a week for sentence when he appeared in city police court Tuesday.

'Agit Singh pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting a peace officer—Const. Frank Grivel.

Cons. Grivel told Magistrate William Ostler that Agit was standing and yelling at someone across the street. When asked for identification he became abusive, pushed the constable against a nearby car and took a swing at him but missed.

The policeman said he then arrested Agit, but he ran off down the street and was eventually caught on Johnson Street. He said Agit had been drinking liquor from a pop-bottle but was not drunk.

DUTY-FREE STORE PLANNED ON MAINLAND

VANCOUVER (CP)—A duty-free store is planned for Vancouver's new airport terminal, but it won't do business with Canadians.

Airport manager Bill Inglis said Tuesday plans for the terminal will likely include provision for a duty-free store similar to one opening next month at Sidney.

The stores will sell goods to U.S. tourists on a mail-order basis, customs department officials said.

3-Fish Limit Proposed For Tye Pool

COURTENAY — Fish and game club members will seek establishment of a three-fish-yearly limit in the Comox tye pool.

Fish and Game Club secretary George Bergsma said members will ask fisheries officials for the three per season limit in order to help conserve the dwindling Puntledge River salmon runs. The limit would only apply to the Comox pool and to fish over 30 pounds.

The "Comox Pool" is that part of the harbor fished for salmon on their way to the Courtenay River.

Courtenay River is formed by the Puntledge and Tsolum Rivers, which meet at the northern boundary of the city just 1½ miles from the mouth.

NO EGGS

The club will also seek Island support for the prohibition of salmon eggs as bait in Vancouver Island waters in an effort to protect steelhead.

Mr. Bergsma said that another resolution, to request closure of the upper reaches of the Tsable, Tsolum, Trent and Puntledge Rivers to all angling between Nov. 1 and May 31 was made to preserve steelhead runs. He said that steelhead on the spawning beds will take any lure offered and are thus exceptionally vulnerable.

GOOD RUNS

A similar closure has been applied to the Vedder River near Vancouver, and has been responsible for the good steel-

Pound-a-Day Objective For B.C. Lamb

What was once one of B.C.'s most neglected industries—sheep raising—is going all out to compete with its counterparts in New Zealand, Australia and the United States, according to Dr. Abraham Kidd, B.C. livestock commissioner.

Since 1959 sheep raising in B.C. has been undergoing a "revitalization" program designed to bring the industry up to par with those of other countries, he said.

66 ON V.I.

Involved in the program are 66 Vancouver Island farmers, many of them located south of the Malahat, who raise flocks totaling 10,000 sheep. B.C.'s annual sheep production is 47,000.

"We are making progress towards our goal," said Dr. Kidd, "but the industry has yet to improve its production methods before it can successfully compete with other countries."

POUND DAILY

He said the present aim of the industry is to raise a 100-pound lamb in 125 days. That's nearly a pound a day.

Some livestock breeders today take as long as 150 days to raise sheep ready for the market.

"Once we get the industry raising sheep in the fewest number of days, then we can concentrate on getting livestock raisers to ship their lambs on the market all at the same time—the beginning of June," he said. "This is important in the marketing of sheep—especially when dealing with chain stores."

NOT FAR OFF

He said there are other problems to overcome, such as marketing, but the most pressing one at present was producing a "top-notch lamb" for home consumption.

"We hope soon to see B.C. self-sufficient in the production of lamb and successfully competing with other countries," he said. "The goal is not a long way off."

DEBT INCREASE MORE THAN WAR COST—CROLL

NANAIMO — Senator David Croll said Tuesday night the Progressive Conservatives have added more to the public debt in five years than the First World War cost Canada.

He said the "Diefenbaker years have been wasted years."

He said Canada is in a mess. "Prime Minister Diefenbaker had said nobody would suffer from unemployment. It has taken five years to see that he was wrong."

Senator Croll was speaking in support of Jack Saywell, Liberal candidate in the forthcoming federal election, at a meeting in the Malaspina Hotel.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Jubenville Fires Election Rival

DUNCAN—Percy Clements, business agent of IWA Local 1-80 and a contender for the presidency in recent elections, has been fired by the president, Weldon C. Jubenville.

Mr. Jubenville said he had acted because Mr. Clements had disobeyed orders from the local and had called two unauthorized meetings in Chemainus.

Mr. Clements said his discharge must be ratified by the executive board of the union and approved by the membership.

In his own defence, he said he had spoken to a mill crew in Chemainus, but that the incident occurred on his day off after he had attended an executive board meeting and made a report of current negotiations in Vancouver.

Mr. Clements was defeated by Mr. Jubenville in the union's April elections, but the count was disputed and members are voting this week for a second time. Counting will be done Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Clements admitted the Chemainus meetings were part of his election campaign, but that he has "the right to speak to anyone, especially on my day off."

NANAIMO—McGavin Sales Limited has made an $18,000 out-of-court settlement with Hyrum I. Sabey, who sued the company for damages when struck by a truck Nov. 16 last year.

MILL BAY — A meeting called here in an effort to start a movement to establish a fire improvement district ended in a dispute between Mill Bay Community League and Mill Bay volunteer fire department.

Fire Chief George Hauk told residents at Mill Bay Hall that the department was having operating difficulties due to lack of funds.

Only 78 of 300 families protected by the department had made their yearly voluntary donation of $5, he said. The department has no safety clothing, and regulations to be enforced next year demand that certified helmets, gloves and steel-soled boots be worn.

Tempers flared when four members of the Community League, Mrs. J. MacCallum, Mrs. E. Ellis, Mrs. W. Clark and Mrs. A. Hunter, insisted the department had been started by the league.

They said the league should appoint fire department officers and that it should be given an annual report by the fire department. Mr. Hauk declared the fire department actually antedated the league, "which had never done anything to help the fire department."

DUNCAN—Nearly 2,000 friends, relatives and sight-seers hiked into the new Girl Guide camp at Cowichan Station to share in the official opening.

Named after Miss Norah Creina Denny, principal of Queen Margaret's School, Duncan, Creina Camp covers 47 acres of woodland on the banks of the Koksilah River and is a mile and one-half from any well-travelled road.

Provincial Guide Commissioner Mrs. R. A. Thompson, Vancouver, a special guest at the opening, paid tribute to Miss Denny's 40 years of work in the Guide movement.

Rev. Ted Greenhalgh dedicated the camp flag at an impressive ceremony, with many companies of Guides drawn up in square formation and in turn surrounded by the crowds of guests.

A weekend camp for patrol leaders of the whole district was in occupation. Mayor Jack Dobson, Duncan; Reeve Don Morton, North Cowichan, and members of both councils were among the invited guests.

GANGES—Word has been received here from Ottawa that a grant of $3,500 will be made toward construction of a wood frame building to house a new health centre here.

GANGES—There was a Liberal "raid" on a Progressive Conservative election meeting here, but it made everyone happy.

C. R. Horel, Chamber of Commerce president and a staunch Liberal, stood up at a meeting being addressed by Walter F. Matthews, who seeks re-election to Parliament, and thanked him for securing a grant of $180,000 for a boat basin here.

Mr. Matthews promised to come to the opening when the project is completed. He has just finished a term as member for Nanaimo, Cowichan and The Islands.

Owners Can Afford More Say Loggers

COURTENAY—"The booming logging industry can well afford a more realistic pay increase than that recommended by industrial commissioner Dr. Neil Perry."

—This is the opinion of local officials of the International Woodworkers of America after study of Dr. Perry's wage negotiations recommendation. The suggestion calls for a two-year contract with an eight cents per hour increase effective this year and a further eight cents in 1963.

PAY CUTS

Recommendations also were made for an increase in shift work hours and pay cuts for safety members.

Local 1-353 officials contend that the suggestions put forth do not include arrangements for settling outstanding issues and have recommended that their members reject the proposal.

"Our members will vote on acceptance of the recommendations this week after a factual report has been received from members of the negotiating committee," said a union official.

Teachers' Negotiations Start In Nanaimo June 23

Members of the Vancouver Island branch of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association are to meet teachers' representatives in Nanaimo on June 23 to start 1963 negotiations.

The meeting will arrange zone negotiations of salaries. Actual salary negotiations will start when schools re-open in the fall. Vancouver Island was one of two areas in the province which conducted zone negotiations last year.

In requesting zone negotiations again the teachers noted last year's meetings were carried out amicably and with dignity, in contrast to previous years.

WIFE PUSHES BURGLAR'S CAREER

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — On trial for theft, Thomas Gibson pleaded that his wife locked him out of the house at night unless he brought home loot.

"After I had stolen a number of things, she said she could do with more," Gibson told the court Tuesday.

"When I refused to steal she would lock me out at night so that I had to sleep in the shed with a car. She threatened to go to the police and tell them about my first job if I didn't continue."

Gibson, 25, admitted burglary and car stealing. The court jailed him for six months.

Pensioner Leader Dies on Mainland

Albert H. Porter, for the last three years president of the B.C. Old Age Pensioners' Association, died in White Rock Hospital on Saturday following a heart attack.

First elected to the provincial executive as a board member in June, 1958, he was elected president for his first term in 1959, and was re-elected for the last two terms.

$500 Grant Big Help For Junior Symphony

A grant from the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation in Vancouver has put Victoria on the road to having a junior symphony orchestra.

Jack Barracough of the senior symphony said today the $500 grant "will go towards creating a group of musicians who, we hope, will later join the senior symphony orchestra."

"The main purpose of the junior symphony will be to give players graduating from school a chance to play with a good group."

School children now may play in the schools' symphony orchestra, but when they leave high school they must relinquish membership.

HIGH STANDARDS

The proposed junior symphony would not be just restricted to young players, however. Anybody will be able to join, within certain limits," stated Mr. Barracough. "The main thing is that they must be able to play well; standards will be high."

About 50 musicians are expected to benefit.

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs turned lower during April as the consumer price index fell to 130.1 on May 1 from 130.3 on April 1.

The decline of two-tenths of a point in Canada's price gauge, reported today by the bureau of statistics, was the sharpest monthly drop since early last year.

The May 1 index level of 130.1 — based on 1949 prices equalling 100 — compares with 129.0 a year earlier.

The price index was stable for four months after last Nov. 1 and then leaped forward six-tenths of a point during March, reaching the record level of 130.3 at April 1.

Declines in food and clothing prices were chiefly responsible for the April downturn, offsetting higher costs for housing, transportation, health and personal care, recreation and reading. The tobacco and alcohol index was unchanged.

FOOD PRICES FALL

The food prices index tumbled to 124.5 from 125.8 as butter fell to 58 cents a pound from 70 cents, and lower prices also prevailed for eggs, fats, chicken, fruits and vegetables. Prices were higher for beef, some pork, lamb, veal, apples, fresh tomatoes and flour.

Housing costs, which represent 32 per cent of the household budget covered by the consumer price index, rose a half-point to 134.5 from 134.0 as home ownership costs moved higher while rents and household operation costs remained unchanged.

The price index of 30 industrial raw materials advanced to 232.6 from 249.6 between April 27 and May 25. In the same period the index of Canadian farm products at terminal markets rose to 222.2 from 219.7. Both indexes are based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

WALL DOWN BEFORE CREDIT —ADENAUER

DORTMUND (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer said Tuesday, West Germany may be willing to grant the Communist East German regime sizable trade credits if the Red wall dividing Berlin is removed.

He said the question of granting credit to East Germany has been discussed by the cabinet. But the cabinet felt East German authorities must make a proper request before the matter can be considered.

The East Germans have indicated they would like more than $2,500,000,000 worth of goods from West Germany on credit.

MENTAL PATIENT

Prominent Divorcee Strangled

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A few minutes before 1 a.m. Sunday morning, a fellow psychiatric patient reports, Daphne Rhodes dropped him off at the Menninger Foundation Clinic. In the next four or five hours, the 26-year-old socially prominent New Yorker was viciously molested and strangled at her apartment across town.

Investigators tried today to determine exactly what befell the young divorcee who was doing well with her problems and lavishing time on volunteer work for crippled children.

Her father is Arthur Bunker, retired after a long career in mining, oil and banking but still honorary chairman of American Metal Climax Incorporated. An uncle, Ellsworth Bunker was President Eisenhower's ambassador to India from 1956 to 1961. She was divorced from Evan Rhodes of New York.

County Attorney Robert Brown did not identify the Menninger patient. He quoted the man as saying Mrs. Rhodes gave him a ride from a Saturday night party.

Mrs. Rhodes' nude body was found Monday in her living room. Bruises on the shoulders and back indicated Mrs. Rhodes struggled furiously with her attacker, investigators said. Her brassiere was knotted about her neck. Prosecutor Brown said the autopsy showed she was sexually molested.

Juvenile Home Way Now Clear

Esquimalt council Tuesday paved the way for construction of a new $100,000 juvenile detention home for Greater Victoria.

By approving payment of half its allocated share—a total $9,193 based on population—council allowed plans to proceed with construction of a building near the city welfare centre off Pembroke.

Esquimalt does not agree that it should pay its whole share because it claims a proportionately small juvenile problem, requiring minimal detention facilities.

The money will be sought from unspent general funds. The Greater Victoria municipalities will ask for winter works aid when the project begins in the fall.

Coun. James Bryant, who made the motion, said the choice lay between joining the other municipalities or building a separate home for Esquimalt, since the law demands that some facility must be provided.

Addition of a $20,000 fire pump truck to the fire department may lower commercial insurance rates in Esquimalt. Truck specifications have been forwarded to fire underwriters for consideration of a rate adjustment.

"We pay three times as much as surrounding municipalities," Coun. Bert Nelson said.

Council unanimously approved a bylaw establishing a five-man recreation commission to co-ordinate new sports activities in Esquimalt. It will not necessarily take over existing organization such as Little League, Coun. Nelson said.

Three councillors and two members at large will be appointed.

A $385 share of engineering costs will be paid for a joint municipal-navy survey of a growing sewage pollution problem in Esquimalt Harbor.

The provincial forestry department will be asked to give free trees to replace 50 insect infested trees cut down in Kinsmen Gorge Park.

Fluoridation Favored By Better-Educated

VANCOUVER (CP)—A University of Alberta professor said Tuesday a survey indicates that the higher his education the more a voter seems to favor fluoridation of his water supply to check tooth decay.

Prof. C. R. Castaldi said the survey was conducted in Edmonton after a plebiscite to fluoridate the city's water was short of the required two-thirds majority by two per cent.

Prof. Castaldi, here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association, said in an interview the survey indicates that the voter favoring fluoridation is likely to be under 50 and have a high school education or better.

Voters objecting to the measure tended to be over 50 and to have a lower education. If the voter was concerned about keeping the water "pure," he was likely to be of a fundamentalist faith.

Prof. Castaldi, professor of children's dentistry, said variations on voting requirements on fluoridation are extreme in Canada. Surveys had shown that in a typical plebiscite half the voters favor fluoridation, 20 per cent were against and 30 per cent did not care but intended to vote against it.

In Alberta a two-thirds majority was required to approve such a plebiscite; in Saskatchewan and the city of Vancouver a straight majority was enough; in Ontario 10 per cent of the voters could ask for a plebiscite but if they did not the community council could install fluoridation; in British Columbia a 60 per cent majority was required.

Meanwhile, Vincent Keenan of Sudbury, Ont., new association president, said the CDA will continue its efforts to bring fluoridation to all Canadian drinking water.

"All reasonable objections to it have been scientifically answered. Only cranks and diehards oppose it now," for the most part.

He said in Sudbury, where the water has been fluoridated for the last 10 years, it is possible to tell by looking in a child's mouth whether he has been in a fluoridated area. Sudbury children never showed signs of gross teeth decay.

Oak Bay Offered Aid On Longer Breakwater

Extension of Turkey Head breakwater to Mary Todd Island—some 400 feet—is desirable but "in the lap of the gods," Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said Tuesday.

He commented on an offer by Victoria Outboard Club to assist in a campaign to have the federal government increase moorage facilities by lengthening the 700-foot rock fill breakwater.

Club Commodore Robert E. Cross wrote council to say he hoped it would "continue the far-sighted and progressive approach for the improvement of waterfront and marina facilities you have already undertaken."

He said the club had asked the support of the council of B.C. yacht clubs, with some 5,000 members, "in the interest of every boat-loving and cruising member."

It has been proposed to add to the breakwater, leaving turn-rents could flow gently to avoid accumulation of flotsam in the anchorage.

Mr. Murdoch said the outboard club and Victoria Squadron of Canada Power Squadron were largely responsible for gaining support to have the existing breakwater installed.

He noted that many commercial fishing vessels take advantage of it to moor in foul weather.

"As this marina (Oak Bay Marina at Turkey Head) moves out, it will force the fishboats to anchor further out in that vicious main stream.

"It's already washed one beach away, so an extension of the breakwater would be in the interests of both (commercial and pleasure boaters)" the reeve said.

Council accepted the offer of support and has written the minister of transport restating the need.

FIND A METEORITE Here's How to Make $100

By RUSSELL ELMAN
OTTAWA (CP) — A Dresden, Ont., laborer has earned a $100 reward from the federal government for finding a meteorite which may prove valuable in space research.

The meteorite, which fell in July, 1939, near the southwestern Ontario farm community, was sent here by Orval Brown in response to a country-wide request for meteorite samples by the Geological Survey of Canada.

Dr. K. R. Dawson, head of the survey's petrology section, reported the Dresden meteorite will be useful to scientists in shedding light on the metallurgical and chemical properties of fragments from outer space.

Meteorites, thought to originate from asteroids revolving round the sun between the orbits of Jupiter and Mars, are the only objects from outer space that have been recovered on earth. In Canada, one is found every five years.

Tear Gas for Negroes

GWELO, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Police used tear gas Tuesday to disperse a crowd of several hundred persons at a Negro township near here. The dispute arose between the Rhodesian Iron and Steel Company and its workers over the feeding of non-employees at the company canteen.

Bodies of Babies Found Among Rags

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The badly decomposed bodies of eight infants, some of which apparently had been there since July, 1959, were found by police at a funeral home here Tuesday.

The bodies, those of stillborn and newborn children, were in a pile of rags, sheets and blankets in a hallway of the funeral home's rear and some still bore identification beads around their wrists.

Clarence Irby, 37, who lived above the funeral home, was taken into custody by police and was being held on an open charge.

Police Sgt. Jack Carlton said Irby took over operation of the Evans funeral home in 1958, and had been operating it as Irby-Evans Funeral Home, Inc., since then.

The officer said Irby allegedly offered to handle funerals for babies who died stillborn or shortly after birth. He said the former owner, J. R. Evans, who had operated a respectable business for nearly 40 years, had contacted them on the case.

Evans turned the business over to Irby, but retained the title of president, although no longer associated with the home.

EMBALMED BODIES

Irby reportedly admitted embalming the bodies but told authorities he had left them on the embalming table and he does not know how they got into the back room.

Police were tipped off when Mr. and Mrs. Allen Salters wanted to make a Memorial Day visit to the grave of their baby, who died Jan. 8. The couple said they paid Irby $55 on Jan. 9 for a burial and produced a receipt which Irby admitted signing.

When the Salters found no grave nor any record of their infant's burial in Glendale cemetery, they contacted Evans. He got in touch with

Ex-First Graders Invited to Fete For City Teacher

Were you ever a Grade 1 student at Quadra Primary School?

If you were, chances are your teacher was Miss Victoria Lemmax, and you're one of more than 5,000.

Since Miss Lemmax was appointed to Quadra School 28 years ago, an estimated 5,320 pupils have been under her tutelage.

As many of them as possible are being contacted with the idea of having an "at home" for Miss Lemmax before she retires at the end of this year.

It will be held June 13, from 7 to 9 p.m., in the school.

Anyone who was a pupil of hers during her 34 years of Victoria teaching is welcome to attend—any former colleagues, too, who might wish to take this opportunity to see her once again in her official capacity.

To facilitate catering arrangements, since the organizers have no idea how many people will come, those who plan to attend should phone EV 2-3489 or EV 4-2344, or write to B. H. Wheatcroft, 1018 Bay Street.

U.S. Soldier Killed

DACHAU (AP)—West German police shot and killed one of their officers and killed an American soldier in self-defence here Tuesday. The police report said several American soldiers tried to break into a restaurant. When police arrived at the scene, one of the Americans attacked one of the policemen with a knife. The German drew his gun and fired a single shot that killed the American.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The freshest Broadway feud is between Peggy Cass and Rudy Vallee, because Vallee, in Esquire, said, "Peggy Cass' voice and her attempt to provoke laughter and appear witty while pretending that she isn't striving, irritates the hell out of me."

Peggy exploded—at a Gallagher's party for the "Forum" cast. "To think I was so upset when he wasn't nominated for a Tony! I've never met him but everybody knows how economical he is. He gave Abe Newborn—the talent agency chief—a watch, but it had been given to Rudy at a testimonial and he didn't even spend the $2 to have the inscription erased. When I was a little girl in Boston, a boy threw a grapefruit at Rudy—that little boy was a prophet in his own time!" Pausing for breath, Peggy said, "I understand Rudy still uses the same megaphone he used in college... And if you think I'm mad now, wait'll I read the article!"

Leggy Angie Dickinson told me from Hollywood that she's ready to forget movies for a year—she's signed to play Bob Cummings' mistress in "The Perfect Setup," a play destined for B-way, produced by Doris Day's husband, Marty Melcher. I asked Angie (who appeared with Richard Burton in "The Bramble Bush") of the report that Burton expects all leading ladies to fall in love with him.

"I suppose you were an exception?" I said. "No," she said. "No!" I said. "You see," she explained, "I wasn't his leading lady... I had a secondary part."

Liz Taylor's still got it bad.

PEGGY CASS... economical, and low!

RUDY VALLEE... Peggy irritates him for Dickie Burton; she showed up for one of his big "Cleo" scenes Tuesday which she wasn't in, and they were chummy-wummy afterward... Horace Stoneham and Joe E. Lewis were discussing the great strides of modern medicine at Toots Shor's, "Take my own case," said Joe E. "I've got stomach trouble and I don't even have a stomach."

Comedian Mort Sahl just loves Otto Preminger and his picture "Advise and Consent." In his act at Basin Street East, Sahl plugs it by calling it "Advise and Cement," and saying, "It opens June 8 and closes June 9"... Sahl's doing very well; however, he almost had a rumble with an Esquire editor who asked him over to his table to meet some VIPs—then suddenly remembered an old battle and called him four and five-letter names. Sahl left abruptly but gracefully.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Mrs. Ernest Hemingway said at the Tower Suite she'll visit the places in Spain her husband liked... Carol Burnett's spurning "the Fanny Brice Story," feeling she's only suffer by comparison.

At Bob Hope's 59th birthday party tossed by Jack Warner, Bob said: "I've reached the difficult age: too old to be president, too young for Medicare."

Rehearsals for Betty Hutton's summer stock show, "Calamity Jane," are being held up—till she has her baby... One of Errol Flynn's former secretaries is trying to sell a book about him, but publishers say "he told everything there was to know about him himself"... A Miami theatre scheduled three science fiction films—"The Fly," "The Spider," "The Mantis"—called it a "bug-a-thon" and offered "a free fly-swatter to every car."

EARL'S PEARLS: A man who marries his secretary is simply promoting her to treasurer.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Many people today buy a car with one down payment and 35 day payments.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Summer's the time when college kids stop writing home for money—and start asking for it in person.

That's earl, brother.

Earl Wilson

LAOS RIGHTIST AGREES TO COALITION MEETING

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — Rightwing Premier Prince Boum Oum told his cabinet today he will attend a meeting with pro-Communist and neutralist leaders Thursday to form a coalition government.

A government spokesman said the cabinet decided to send Deputy Premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan with him to the meeting, which may end the leftist-rightist civil war in Laos.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao delegation will be headed by Prince Souphanouvong and the neutralists by his half-brother, Prince Souvanna Phouma, widely expected to be the premier of any coalition government.

DOLLAR DEVALUATION

Canada 'Smeared' By Pearson—PM

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

THREE RIVERS, Que. — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker angrily charged Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson with deliberately striking a blow at the financial integrity of Canada for purely political gain.

He levelled the charge when he addressed a crowd of over 2,000 here Tuesday, and vigorously denounced statements made Monday at Kitchener on Canada's dollar pegging policy by Mr. Pearson. The statements were "without truth whatsoever," he said.

He claimed the Liberal leader was making such statements because he and his party were becoming desperate in the campaign. They were now aware—in the past four days—that they were losing the election, according to Mr. Diefenbaker.

"I don't care what a man says in political criticism, but to strike a blow at the financial integrity of Canada, internationally and nationally, is unworthy of any leader of a great party."

"Canada should not be smeared in this manner," he shouted. His voice carried over the noise in the Three Rivers Armories. The crowd had been "warmed-up" by advance speeches in French by Transport Minister Leon Balcer and Defence Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley.

CROWD RESPONDS

It was a hot evening. The temperature inside the building was well above 80 degrees. The prime minister spoke for 25 minutes, 10 minutes in French. The crowd responded to both his English and French with cheers and applause.

A typical French-Canadian political meeting, it was noisy, boisterous and full of fire. There were bands and marching majorettes preceding the speakers. Loudspeakers boomed the voices of the speakers into the streets where a crowd of around 400 unable to get into the jammed hall, milled around outside in the warm evening air.

The prime minister's charges against Mr. Pearson of "smeared" Canada.

OAS MEMBERS CAPTURED IN RAID ON HIDEOUT

ALGIERS, (UPI) — French security forces raided a farm house 18 miles south of Algiers today and captured 17 members of the terrorist secret army organization.

The terrorist hideout was pinpointed by three OAS suspects arrested previously. The security forces found seven French army deserters among the 17 arrested, and picked up a small arsenal of stolen weapons.

While the OAS truce continued, police found two murdered Europeans in the Algiers suburb of Guyotville this morning. It was believed they were former OAS men who had been "executed" by the terrorist organization.

PARIS — President de Gaulle hinted today that he may have decided to spare the life of former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud in the "higher interest of the nation."

A government spokesman said Jouhaud's appeal for an end to terrorism in Algeria was discussed at today's cabinet session. He quoted de Gaulle as saying that "on this subject as on others," men and events had to be judged from the viewpoint of the nation's higher interest.

The spokesman referred to Jouhaud's plea to ex-general Raoul Salan, chief of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, to "face facts" and come to terms with Algerian nationalism.

Condemned to death and his legal recourse exhausted, Jouhaud has only the hope of executive clemency between him and execution.

Jouhaud addressed his appeal from his death row cell to ex-general Raoul Salan, himself behind bars facing a life sentence as the leader of the Secret Army and the general's revolt. He urged Salan to face up to the inevitability of Algerian independence, to order Secret Army killers to holster their guns and let Algeria's Moslems live in peace.

There was almost unanimous reaction by legislators in the national assembly lobbies that the Algerian-born Jouhaud had saved himself from the guillotine by having written the letter.

Crash Kills Father, 3 Children

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)

A 30-year-old father and his three young children were killed early today in a grinding, two-car highway crash in nearby Surrey. Four youths in the other car were injured.

Leonard Douglas Knaggs of Surrey was driving with his three children, ranging in age from 18 months to six years, when the cars collided.

Mrs. Knaggs was en route to pick up his wife, who was working in a cafe near the scene of the crash, police said.

Mrs. Knaggs accepted another ride when her husband failed to arrive at the cafe. She passed the wreckage of her husband's car on the way home and stopped.

She was put under heavy sedation and treated for shock.

Injured were the driver and passengers of the second car involved in the crash—Ray Skelly, 21, of New Westminster and Ray Yule, 21, of Burnaby; Rafael Jallet, 18, of New Westminster, and Winston McRae, 21, of Surrey.

They were not seriously injured, police said.

Wayne Wilby, 23-year-old tow-truck driver called to haul the mangled cars away, said it was one of the worst accidents he had ever seen.

"It was horrible," he said. "I've never seen cars mangled so much before."

He said it took two trucks two hours to straighten out the wrecked Knaggs car so that police and ambulance men could free body of the dead driver.

Police said the three children were killed when thrown from the car in the impact.

The bodies of the children had been removed from the scene just shortly before Mrs. Knaggs happened by. She recognized the family car, ran screaming toward it and collapsed after seeing her husband in the twisted wreckage and the tattered remnants of her children's clothing on the road.

Friends of the family said the Knaggs had only recently purchased the car to take a trip to Winnipeg to attend a relative's wedding there.

Officials Blame $ Devaluation

Times Business Editor

Gasoline prices began edging up in Victoria today and dealers were generally of the opinion that a one-cent-a-gallon increase would be in effect within a matter of days.

There were also indications that diesel oil, fuel oil, and other petroleum prices would also be increased slightly.

The move was initiated by British-American Oil Co. Ltd., closely followed by Texaco Canada Ltd., as part of a Canada-wide increase of seven-tenths of a cent a gallon in tank-wagon (cost to dealer) prices.

The price boost has been attributed by the oil companies to the higher price of crude oil caused by devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

The other major oil companies—Imperial Oil Ltd., Standard Oil of B.C. Ltd., and Shell Oil of Canada Ltd.—have not yet announced general increases but their representatives in Vancouver told the Times this morning that they would be watching the situation carefully.

Shell Oil, however, has increased its price by one cent a gallon to its consignment dealers in the Vancouver and lower mainland "price war" area.

QUICK REACTION

The Victoria tank wagon price increase was reflected immediately today in higher prices at the pumps of B-A and Texaco service stations.

However, the local price structure is complicated by the better than four-cent differential between regular and premium grade gasolines.

More than 80 per cent of the gasoline pumps in the city will not register more than 50 cents a gallon which means that prices must be increased proportionately more on regular gas than on premium to absorb the average cost of the increase.

One dealer said he had raised his price on regular gas to 46.9 cents a gallon from 45.9 while his premium price stayed at 49.9.

Another service station with new-type pumps is charging 45.6 cents for regular and 50.1 for premium.

Fractional differences in prices can be expected due to location of service stations which influences competition.

One dealer said this morning he thought that "operators Continued on Page 12

EAST GERMANS ADMIT FOOD SHORT

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists publicly admitted today there are serious food shortages in East Germany.

The party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, called for increased efforts to produce more milk and meat to overcome deficits in state-planned quotas.

The West Berlin newspaper Der Abend described East Germany's food situation as catastrophic. It said there is scarcely enough milk for young children. In addition to the shortages, it said, much of the food is of bad quality.

Chinese Riot Over Tickets To Border

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Ten persons were reported killed today in Canton after troops moved in to break up a riot over a ban on the sale of train tickets to the Chinese border town of Shunghua near this British colony.

Government sources here said there was no official information on the reported violence in Canton.

A pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper quoted arrivals from the Kwangtung provincial capital as saying that 10 persons were killed and several hundred arrested Tuesday after troops moved in to break up a crowd of 1,000 demonstrators who angrily ignored official pleas to return to their jobs.

The report said railroad officials would only sell Shunghua tickets to holders of rice ration cards. Many of the would-be travellers had turned in their ration coupons last month when they joined the trek southwards to try to cross the border into Hong Kong.

PREPARED BY GOV'T

Pearson Reveals Jobless Survey

Times Ottawa Bureau

WALKERTON, Ont. — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson Tuesday night produced photostated copies of what he called a government report predicting that Canada is in for a serious spell of unemployment until at least 1970.

He said the report concludes that "unless something is done" Canada will have not less than 400,000 unemployed, on the average, up to 1970.

Mr. Pearson said the report, which he referred to on May 5, was prepared by government experts for the Gill commission, set up last July by the government to find ways out of difficulties facing the unemployment insurance fund.

Government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Diefen-

baker, have heretofore denied knowledge of the existence of the report.

ENTITLED TO HEAR

But Mr. Pearson, before an election rally of more than 800 in the high school auditorium here, said he felt the public was entitled to the facts, even though the government attempted to say Mr. Pearson's earlier statements were "a figment of my imagination."

The document released by Mr. Pearson Tuesday night, to the applause of his audience, was a table of statistics headed, "Principal Components of the Labor Market."

They reviewed unemployment in Canada from 1959 to 1970—all the figures beyond this year being labelled as "projected."

GENEVA CONFERENCE TOLD:

'Could Hide A-Arms Under Seats'

GENEVA (Reuters) — Disarmament negotiators were told today that nuclear weapons now are so small that enough of them can be hidden in one room to wipe out many of the world's capitals.

British delegate Joseph Godber told the 17-nation disarmament conference "a strategic nuclear warhead can now be contained in a cylinder" some five feet long and two feet in diameter.

Godber said: "Enough of these weapons could therefore be concealed in this very conference chamber—in the walls, in the ceiling, under the banks of seats around us—to annihilate the capital cities of all countries represented in this conference and to annihilate them several times over."

Godber said there would always be enough Uranium 235 in existence to be put into a fast reactor to make several weapons—and both East and West have such reactors.

He said the most important problem facing the conference is the difficulty of verifying the abolition of nuclear weapons.

Yet, he said, under Soviet proposals, the end of the first stage of disarmament would see stocks of nuclear warheads untouched.

The Soviet plan, he said, provides for total elimination of nuclear delivery vehicles in the first stage—but Russia possesses for example more than 100 TU-104 civil airliners modelled on the TU-16 jet bomber and they could be rapidly transformed for military use.

He admitted the West could do the same but said it would be harder since its airliners were originally designed as civilian planes and had no bomber originals.

What a tragedy. Th' price o' gas up—an' right in th' middle o' th' speech campaign!

Th' way some o' th' politicians attack th' press, y'd think th' press wuz runnin' fer office.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

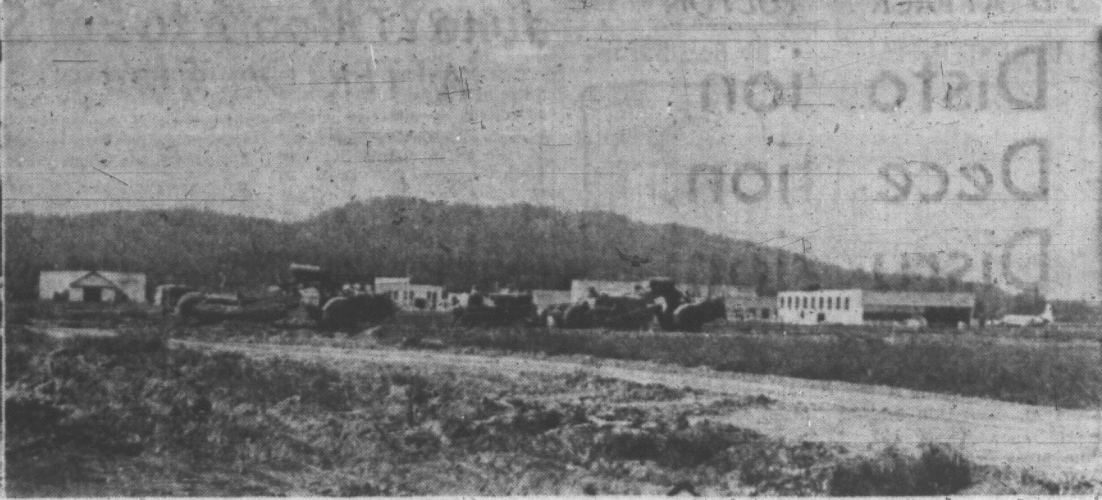

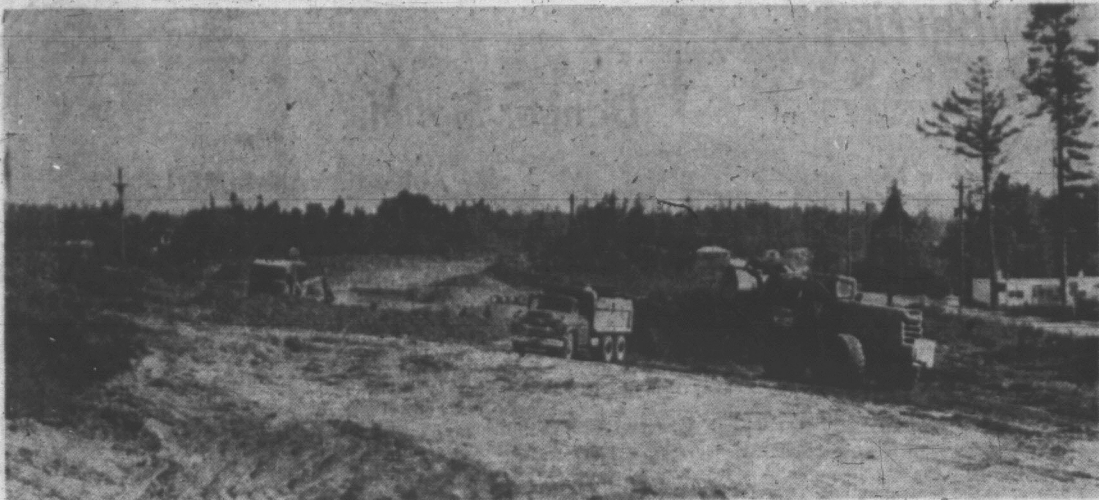

JUNE 6

D. O. Stevens and A. Hoffman opened a steam sash, door and blind factory at the corner of Government and Wharf Streets.

A motion to have a reciprocity treaty with the United States and with the Sandwich Islands was voted down in the House of Assembly. Against were Messrs. Cary, Franklin, and Burnaby; for were Messrs. Helmcken and Ring.

Plans were laid to start up a lime kiln a short distance out of town, the first such kiln on Vancouver Island.

Col. G. F. Foster, one of the town's best known and respected residents, returned here from London aboard the steamer Sierra Nevada, after an eight-month absence.

EARTH MOVERS CHURN NEW ROUTES TO PLANES, FERRIES

Travellers heading for Victoria to catch planes at Victoria International Airport, or ferries at Sidney and Swartz Bay, are well advised to allow a little extra time for possible detours and single-lane

sweeps east of the present route, starting at the junction of Lochside Road, the alternate route to Sidney. Construction work now going on involves monstrous machines levelling off ground, removing fill, as well as blacktopping sections of roads near airport. Future airport traffic will proceed on present No. 17, ferry traffic for B.C. mainland, Anacortes and Gulf Island on new highway.

MONTE ROBERTS

After the campaign to change the name of Foul Bay Road successfully went away somewhere, never, presumably, to return, we who watch over the ramparts felt we could curl up with a good book and enjoy a well-earned rest.

Life, we realized, was not all tea and crumpets, but still, tea and crumpets had their place, and we meant to take advantage of them.

And so, while we who watch over the ramparts of Oak Bay were taking advantage of tea, crumpets, a good book, and a well-earned rest, what was happening?

Another invasion of Oak Bay was happening, that was what was happening.

I jape you not, as Jonathan Paar might have said, had he been a citizen of Oak Bay.

Read, if you will, this chilling news item from Tuesday's Times:

"A creeping growth known as Japanese clover is on the march in Oak Bay, council was warned Monday night.

"Coun. J. D. Watts asked if the engineer had anything to report on weeds and whether an emergency program was being undertaken to combat a boulevard infestation.

"He said Japanese clover seems to be taking over, especially on Monterey."

And to think all this has been happening while we, who watch over the ramparts, have been curled up with a good crumpet, asleep at the switch, blinking drowsily as the Trojan Horse trotted by.

Gad, chaps, consider it. The stately oaks of Old England endangered by an infiltration of Japanese clover.

Wisterias whistling vainly for help.

Rhododendrons forced out into the road.

Lillies of the valley chased into the alley.

Could this have happened on Old Monterey?

It is time we, who are charged with the honor of guarding the ramparts of Oak Bay, sprang into action, and wrote a letter to the editor, or something.

Because it must be remembered, one must never underestimate Japanese clover when it is on the march.

As the wise man might have put it many centuries ago: DEUCED CLOVER, THE JAPANESE.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ken Stuart of Sacramento, Calif., will speak on the topic of "Multiple Listing" when the Victoria Real Estate Board holds its meeting in the Georgian Lounge of the Empress Hotel at noon Friday.

More than 1,100 passengers from Seattle arrived here aboard the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Marguerite at noon today.

"We handled a similar number Monday and Tuesday," a C.P.R. spokesman said. Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau estimates that the city's current tourist traffic is about equal to that of July last year.

Victoria and southern Vancouver Island was the most favored area of the Pacific coast today with bright sunshine all morning and temperatures rising to 55 degrees at noon.

By contrast, it was cloudy and cool at Nanaimo and a belt of rain spread northward from Comox to Port Hardy and up the coast to Prince Rupert.

Vancouver had a mixture of sun and cloud and it was generally cloudy in Seattle.

Victoria's outlook for tonight and Thursday is uncertain.

"We can hope for continued sunshine with some cloudy periods Thursday," said Weatherman Bill Mackie, "but there is still no assurance of settled summer weather."

Oak Bay has found a cheaper way to dispose of garbage, with the result that the city is faced with a $3,000 annual loss on its overall garbage operation.

City garbage committee was told today that Oak Bay plans to take over its own disposal through an arrangement made with the Esquimalt district.

By hauling garbage away in its own trucks, Oak Bay will save money, the committee was told.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

The Canadian Services College:

Vic-Van Isle Kiwanis Club: Mattick's Farm, 6 p.m.
Optimist Club of Victoria: 625 Fort Street, 12.10 p.m.

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club: Oak Bay Beach Hotel, 6.15 p.m.
Film, "Vision in Merchandising."

Police will be asked to give closer attention to the Oak Bay Avenue-Redfern Street area and a drive-in hamburger stand operator will be warned of possible licence cancellation in connection with hot-rodging complaints.

Residents' complaints of excessive traffic noise were referred to city solicitor T. P. O'Grady through street traffic committee which met today.

Mr. O'Grady suggested closer control of street traffic by police, and a warning to the proprietor of an avenue drive-in to exercise more control over patrons while they are on his property, with the reminder that "stronger measures" could be taken.

A young machine worker who is "not a criminal" was fined $35 by Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today for stealing a $1.25 bottle of pills from a downtown supermarket.

"I am satisfied he is not a criminal," Mr. Ostler said of Wallace Fong, accused of theft under $50. "But he suffered a momentary lapse."

The detective and manager of the Canada Safeway store at 1809 Douglas Street, said Fong placed the bottle in his pocket, paid for two other articles, and walked out of the store.

When accosted, he said he had forgotten to pay for it, they said.

Fong denied the charge.

A 19-year-old sailor was fined $200 and placed on a $500 bond to be of good behavior for one year by Magistrate William Ostler in Saanich police court Tuesday for indecent assault.

David Francis Parfitt, HMCS Antigonish, was convicted last week of entering the home of a 40-year-old Saanich woman and assaulting her.

During the trial witnesses testified that young sailors—including Parfitt—often visited the woman's home to watch television and sometimes drink.

Magistrate Ostler rebuked the woman for her laxity in supervising her two daughters, aged 17 and 14.

St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will meet on Thursday at Holywood House at 8 p.m. Social evening of dancing will follow.

Band Shell Refused New Party

Request for the use of Cameron band shell in Beacon Hill Park for a New Democratic Party political rally was turned down today by city parks committee.

"Are we going to legislate free speech in this council?" asked Ald. A. W. Toone, who opposed the decision.

"This is a public park," he said, arguing that the speaker's corner—set aside for the use of anyone who has things to say in public—is for individuals.

"This is an organization asking for the use of the band shell," Ald. Toone said. The local NDP organization had as much right to the shell as a university group wanting to talk about nature, or any other body, he said.

City manager C. C. Wyatt pointed out there is no restriction on the use of the "soap-box" area during five-months of the year, including the time proposed by Mrs. May Campbell, in a letter from the NDP association.

He said he went through the files and found no precedent for such a political meeting in the park.

"It is a matter of policy as to whether or not political parties should use the park," he said.

IT ISN'T ALL NASAL TWANG AND DO-SE-DO

Square Dance Callers Know Their Geometry

By IAIN HUNTER
Local enthusiasts are proud of the fact that there are more square dancers per square foot in Victoria than in most Canadian cities.

Almost any Saturday night, in some community hall or private house, the scrape of a fiddle or the nasal twang of a caller can be heard.

Members of the nearly 30 clubs or square dance groups here are quick to acknowledge their debt to the callers in the city. Without them, many a dance would collapse into a hopeless tangle of writhing bodies.

Callers are members of the Caller Teachers' Association, and each one works with his own clubs.

IT ISN'T EASY
They emphasize that their talent is not easily come by, and that it takes years of practice as well as natural ability to reach a competent standard.

This practice usually follows a workshop held for the 20 full-fledged members of the association on the Island once a year. Associate membership is enjoyed by those not calling for a club full-time.

Instruction at these workshops is given by a professional caller imported usually from the U.S.

Local secretary of the Caller Teachers' Association, "Bud" Graham, said callers don't accept money for themselves. Proceeds from such dances as the "spring roundup" in the arena each year, go toward the workshop and other expenses paid by the association.

MUST BE TEACHER
Before the caller can operate as one, he must be a teacher, Mr. Graham said. Dancers must first be brought up to a standard at which they can follow a caller.

Once a caller has taught the dancers how to follow his prompting, he puts them through a set program.

Mr. Graham said the type of dance and tempo depended largely on the age of the dancers. The pace is usually wound up at the beginning, and the caller "coasts" into his program, dropping off the tempo at the end, so that dancers don't go home tired out.

A caller must know his geometry, according to Mr. Graham, in leading dancers in and out of sequence.

"When you say 'there's your partner' she's got to be there," he said.

He distinguished three types of call which are used for different dances. Patter calling is the most difficult due to the necessity for variety. It is used for "hoedown" music and is rhythmic and repetitive with no set finish.

"The singing call" is usually written down to a certain piece of music and fits in to the melody ending with a chorus.

The quadrille or "contra" call is used for old favorites. In this case the dancers are encouraged to follow the music as much as possible and little prompting is given due to the familiarity of the dance.

PROMPTING
Mr. Graham said that calling developed in this country due to the variety of nationalities settling here.

"The pioneer community used to dance together just as they built barns together," he said. "They brought their own music from the old country with them and everyone knew what to do to it."

"But settlers from other countries didn't know the dance, and a method of prompting was developed.

This was the square dance call.

Since 1960, responsibility for the training and education of moderately retarded children has been the responsibility of the Greater Victoria School Board. Only the most serious cases are handled at the Elford Street home.

Activities of those attending, besides upkeep of the house and garden, include cooking, laundry, weaving, ceramics and other crafts. These activities are conducted by a full-time supervisor, a part-time craft teacher and four volunteer workers.

Following the opening ceremonies on Friday, the centre will be open for public inspection on Saturday from 10 to 4 p.m.

Home Went Up 'Like a Bomb'

Four persons escaped in night attire early this morning when fire roared through a city home.

Asleep at 1417 Camosun were Mrs. Thelma Bean, her sons Daryl, 6, and Michael, 20 months, and lodger Albert Lundgren.

Mr. Lundgren, whose bedroom is in the basement, woke up shortly after 3 a.m. and saw smoke coming through a wall. He ran upstairs to arouse Mrs. Bean and her children, then ran next-door to call the fire department.

Then he ran back to see what he could salvage of his belongings but couldn't get anywhere near his room for flames and smoke.

"The house went up in just a few seconds," he said. "I don't know what made me wake up, but I'm sure glad I did."

Mr. Lundgren—a CNR seaman—first thought he was still on board ship, he said, and began to look for an extinguisher.

Then he ran to telephone the fire department from the house next door.

"I dialled for the operator but I couldn't get through," he said.

'LIKE A BOMB'

The firemen were summoned eventually by Barry Trimble who lives across the street at 1422 Camosun.

His wife said the building "went up like a bomb."

Dressed in borrowed clothes this morning Mrs. Bean was still confused. Her husband Arthur is on the Island Tug and Barge vessel Lloyd B. Gore now in Vancouver.

"I can't remember exactly what happened," said Mrs. Bean. "We lost everything but I think it was covered by insurance. We are going to move."

Architects Accused Of Meddling

Vancouver Island architects have no business criticizing staff changes in the city engineering department, city council's public works committee agreed today.

"This is city business," said committee chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, referring to a letter sent to the mayor by the Island chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C. suggesting Roderick Clack be restored to his former post.

Mr. Clack was transferred in mid-May from the head of the city's planning and inspection division, including zoning administration, to planning officer.

Other members of the committee agreed that the institute was meddling.

"It seems quite wrong for the architectural association to get in on this. It's an engineering problem," said city engineer James Garnett.

Ald. M. H. Mooney said outside "interference" was at least premature in view of a special committee having been appointed by the mayor to delve into reported "unrest" in the department.

"We have to give them an answer," Mayor R. B. Wilson said.

The special committee will bring in recommendations, the institute will be told.

"If this is going to come up every time the city makes a change in its affairs, they should run for council," Ald. Edgewood said.

EARTH MOVERS CHURN NEW ROUTES TO PLANES, FERRIES

Travellers heading for Victoria to catch planes at Victoria International Airport, or ferries at Sidney and Swartz Bay, are well advised to allow a little extra time for possible detours and single-lane

sweeps east of the present route, starting at the junction of Lochside Road, the alternate route to Sidney. Construction work now going on involves monstrous machines levelling off ground, removing fill, as well as blacktopping sections of roads near airport. Future airport traffic will proceed on present No. 17, ferry traffic for B.C. mainland, Anacortes and Gulf Island on new highway.

MONTE ROBERTS

After the campaign to change the name of Foul Bay Road successfully went away somewhere, never, presumably, to return, we who watch over the ramparts felt we could curl up with a good book and enjoy a well-earned rest.

Life, we realized, was not all tea and crumpets, but still, tea and crumpets had their place, and we meant to take advantage of them.

And so, while we who watch over the ramparts of Oak Bay were taking advantage of tea, crumpets, a good book, and a well-earned rest, what was happening?

Another invasion of Oak Bay was happening, that was what was happening.

I jape you not, as Jonathan Paor might have said, had he been a citizen of Oak Bay.

Read, if you will, this chilling news item from Tuesday's Times:

"A creeping growth known as Japanese clover is on the march in Oak Bay, council was warned Monday night.

"Coun. J. D. Watts asked if the engineer had anything to report on weeds and whether an emergency program was being undertaken to combat a boulevard infestation.

"He said Japanese clover seems to be taking over, especially on Monterey."

And to think all this has been happening while we, who watch over the ramparts, have been curled up with a good crumpet, asleep at the switch, blinking drowsily as the Trojan Horse trotted by.

Gad, chaps, consider it. The stately oaks of Old England endangered by an infiltration of Japanese clover.

Wisterias whistling vainly for help.

Rhododendrons forced out into the road.

Lillies of the valley chased into the alley.

Could this have happened on Old Monterey?

It is time we, who are charged with the honor of guarding the ramparts of Oak Bay, sprang into action, and wrote a letter to the editor, or something.

Because it must be remembered, one must never underestimate Japanese clover when it is on the march.

As the wise man might have put it many centuries ago: DEUCED CLOVER, THE JAPANESE.

Band Shell Refused New Party

Request for the use of Cameron band shell in Beacon Hill Park for a New Democratic Party political rally was turned down today by city parks committee.

"Are we going to legislate free speech in this council?" asked Ald. A. W. Toone, who opposed the decision.

"This is a public park," he said, arguing that the speaker's corner—set aside for the use of anyone who has things to say in public—is for individuals.

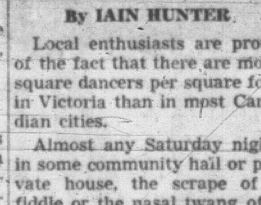

"This is an organization asking for the use of the band shell," Ald. Toone said.

The local NDP organization had as much right to the shell as a university group wanting to talk about nature, or any other body, he said.

City manager C. C. Wyatt pointed out there is no restriction on the use of the "soap-box" area during five months of the year, including the time proposed by Mrs. May Campbell, in a letter from the NDP association.

He said he went through the files and found no precedent for such a political meeting in the park.

"It is a matter of policy as to whether or not political parties should use the park," he said.

Local enthusiasts are proud of the fact that there are more square dancers per square foot in Victoria than in most Canadian cities.

Almost any Saturday night, in some community hall or private house, the scrape of a fiddle or the nasal twang of a caller can be heard.

Members of the nearly 50 clubs or square dance groups here are quick to acknowledge their debt to the callers in the city. Without them, many a dance would collapse into a hopeless tangle of writhing bodies.

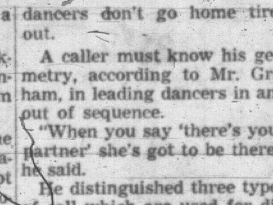

Callers are members of the Caller Teachers' Association, and each one works with his own clubs.

IT ISN'T EASY

They emphasize that their talent is not easily come by, and that it takes years of practice as well as natural ability to reach a competent standard.

This practice usually follows a workshop held for the 20 full-fledged members of the association on the island once a year.

Associate membership is enjoyed by those not calling for a club full-time.

Instruction at these workshops is given by a professional caller imported usually from the U.S.

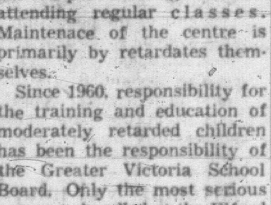

Local secretary of the Caller Teachers' "Hud" Graham, said callers don't accept money for themselves. Proceeds from such dances as the "spring roundup" in the arena each year, go toward the workshop and other expenses paid by the association.

Man Accused Of Trying To Forge Paper Immigration Case Remanded for Week

A 45-year-old man was charged in city police court today with two counts of attempting to forge an immigration document.

Peter Chong, also known as Chong Wong Ming, of 817 Kings, is accused of attempting to have John Moore print a facsimile of a letterhead of the immigration branch of the department of citizenship and immigration, at the end of last year with intent to permit a person to enter the colony of Hong Kong from the Republic of China.

The second refers to an attempt to have Duncan Macaulay to do the printing.

Defence counsel Joseph McKenna, Q.C., asked Magistrate William Ostler to remand Chong for a week without plea and asked for bail.

"The accused has lived in Victoria for the greater part of his life, is married, has seven children, and has been employed by Yarrow for many years," the lawyer said.

Special prosecutor W. Berkeley Monteth asked for a $1,000 cash bail and Magistrate Ostler agreed. The charge carries a maximum penalty of seven years in prison.

Artist Awarded Canada Council Scholarship

A Victoria artist has been awarded a Canada Council art scholarship in the category of visual arts.

She is Miss Helen V. Piddington, 1100 Burnside Road, who is now continuing her study of art in Paris.

Eighty-two Canadian painters, musicians, actors, dancers and writers were awarded scholarships by the council. Their value, with a maximum of $2,000 each, totaled $140,000.

UTAH CHOIR HERE TONIGHT

Another Seattle World Fair attraction has found its way to Victoria.

It is the Ogden Choral which will perform tonight at 8 at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at 2900 Quadra Street.

A Mormon group from Ogden, Utah, the choir sings selections in the manner of the famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

The Ogden singers, who performed at the World Fair Monday and at Vancouver, Tuesday, included Victoria in their itinerary only at last-minute notice this morning when they learned of possible interest in this city.

A two-hour program of classical and light music is planned tonight.

Tender Call Next Month On New Ferry

The B.C. Toll Authority plans to call tenders July 1 for a new Gulf Islands ferry.

The 40-car, 400-passenger vessel will run from Tsawwassen to the islands.

Ferry manager Monty Aldous said today advance notice of tenders now is being advertised and interested shipbuilders can obtain plans and specifications from his Wharf Street office.

READY NEXT SUMMER

"We anticipate a tender call July 1," he said.

Mr. Aldous said work should start in early fall and the ferry would be ready for service by next summer.

It will be 215 feet long, specially designed for the Gulf Islands run.

There is no official cost estimate, but it is expected to be better than $1,000,000.

There has been no mainland link for Gulf Islanders since Coast Ferries Ltd. pulled out its service between Steveston and Galiano, Mayne, Pender and Saturna islands at the beginning of the year.

Crash Kills Father, 3 Children

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A 30-year-old father and his three young children were killed early today in a grinding, two-car highway crash in nearby Surrey. Four youths in the other car were injured.

Leonard Douglas Knaggs of Surrey was driving with his three children, ranging in age from 18 months to six years, when the cars collided. Mr. Knaggs was en route to pick up his wife, who was working in a cafe near the scene of the crash, police said.

Mrs. Knaggs accepted another ride when her husband failed to arrive at the cafe. She passed the wreckage of her husband's car on the way home and stopped.

She was put under heavy sedation and treated for shock. Injured were the driver and passengers of the second car involved in the crash — Ray Skelly, 21, of New Westminster and Ray Yule, 21, of Burnaby; Rafael Jallet, 18, of New Westminster, and Winston McRae, 21, of Surrey.

They were not seriously injured, police said.

Wayne Wilby, 23-year-old tow-truck driver called to haul the mangled cars away, said it was one of the worst accidents he had ever seen.

"It was horrible," he said. "I've never seen cars mangled so much before."

He said it took two trucks two hours to straighten out the wrecked Knaggs car so that police and a mobile police unit could free the body of the dead driver.

SEVEN HORSES FALL IN DRAMATIC DERBY

U.S. Colt Scores Smashing Victory

EPSOM, Surrey, England (CP) — Larkspur, owned by former polo player Raymond Guest of New York, won the 183rd running of the Derby today, in which seven of the 26 starters fell during a fantastic scramble at famous Tattenham Corner.

Arcor, owned by French textile tycoon Marcel Boussac, finished second and Le Cantilien, another French colt owned by Suzy Volterra, was third.

The winning time of two minutes, 37.35 seconds, was 3.45 seconds off the record for the event, established in 1936, by Mahmoud.

The victory was worth £34,786 ($106,445) to Guest.

Larkspur, a 22-to-1 shot, came from nowhere in the field of 26 starters to win the 1½-mile classic, by two lengths. Arcor, which started at 40 to 1, was a half-length in front of Le Cantilien, which went off at 8 to 1.

Prince d'Amour, the only Canadian entry in the classic for three-year-olds, finished sixth. The 20-to-1 shot was bought recently by Calgary sportsmen Max Bell and Frank McMahon, Alberta Ranches partners, from Mrs. Volterra.

Jackie Astor's Escort finished fourth, and Sebring, owned by Townsend Martin of New York, was fifth.

Prince d'Amour was in a prominent position all the way. He was about 10th as the horses came along the back stretch, and gradually inched forward in the run down to Tattenham Corner.

The Alberta Ranches entry looked to be fifth with 200 yards to go.

EAST GERMANS ADMIT FOOD SHORT

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists publicly admitted today there are serious food shortages in East Germany.

The party newspaper Neues Deutschland called for increased efforts to produce more milk and meat to overcome deficits in state-planned quotas.

The West Berlin newspaper Der Abend described East Germany's food situation as catastrophic. It said there is scarcely enough milk for young children. In addition to the shortages, it said, much of the food is of bad quality.

Chinese Riot Over Tickets To Border

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Ten persons were reported killed today in Canton after troops moved in to break up a riot over a ban on the sale of train tickets to the Chinese border town of Shumchun near this British colony.

Government sources here said there was no official information on the reported violence in Canton.

A pro-Nationalist Chinese newspaper quoted arrivals from the Kwangtung provincial capital as saying that 10 persons were killed and several hundred arrested Tuesday after troops moved in to break up a crowd of 1,000 demonstrators who angrily ignored official pleas to return to their jobs.

The report said railroad officials would only sell Shumchun tickets to holders of rice ration cards. Many of the would-be travellers had turned in their ration coupons last month when they joined the trek southwards to try to cross the border into Hong Kong.

Jews Stone Fascists In Rioting

ROME (AP) — Italian police stationed reinforced patrols in Rome's Jewish quarter today after two nights of street fighting between Jews and fascists.

Six persons and several policemen were hurt in the skirmishes Monday night. Two more youths and five policemen were injured Tuesday night when authorities used tear gas to break up the scuffles.

The fighting broke out as Rome was in the heat of a municipal election campaign prior to voting Sunday.

Monday night two cars of campaigners of the Italian Social Movement, Italy's post-war fascist party, drove through the former ghetto, which still has many Jewish residents. Pedestrians halted the cars and fighting broke out.

Tuesday night the fascist party had an election rally across the river from the Jewish quarter. After the rally, six fascist-decorated automobiles drove across the Tiber and past Rome's synagogue. Young Jews stoned the cars.

Fascist circles claimed most of the Jews involved in the fights are Communists. Many of the Jews denied this, saying they were reacting as Jews against what they considered a fascist provocation.

What a tragedy. The price of gas up — an' right in the middle of the speech campaign!

ALGIERS (AP) — A clandestine radio broadcast of the European Secret Army said tonight talks with Moslem nationalists have reached a deadlock and a new campaign of terror would begin.

(Times News Services)

PARIS — President de Gaulle hinted today that he may have decided to spare the life of former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud in the "higher interest of the nation."

A government spokesman said Jouhaud's appeal for an end to terrorism in Algeria was discussed at today's cabinet session. He quoted de Gaulle as saying that "on this subject as on others," men and events had to be judged from the viewpoint of the nation's higher interest.

The spokesman referred to Jouhaud's plea to ex-general Raoul Salan, chief of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, to "face facts" and come to terms with Algerian nationalism.

Condemned to death and his legal recourse exhausted, Jouhaud has only the hope of executive clemency between him and execution.

Jouhaud addressed his appeal from his death row cell to ex-general Raoul Salan, himself behind bars facing a life sentence as the leader of the Secret Army and the general's revolt. He urged Salan to face up to the inevitability of Algerian independence, to order Secret Army killers to holster their guns and let Algeria's Moslems live in peace.

There was almost unanimous reaction by legislators in the national assembly lobbies that the Algerian-born Jouhaud had saved himself from the guillotine by having written the letter.

PREPARED BY GOV'T Pearson Reveals Jobless Survey

Times Ottawa Bureau

WALKERTON, Ont. — Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson Tuesday night produced photostated copies of what he called a government report predicting that Canada is in for a serious spell of unemployment until at least 1970.

He said the report concludes that "unless something is done" Canada will have not less than 400,000 unemployed, on the average, up to 1970.

Mr. Pearson said the report, which he referred to on May 5, was prepared by government experts for the Gill commission, set up last July by the government to find ways out of difficulties facing the unemployment insurance fund.

Government spokesmen, including Prime Minister Diefenbaker, have heretofore denied knowledge of the existence of the report.

ENTITLED TO HEAR
But Mr. Pearson, before an election rally of more than 800 in the high school auditorium here, said he felt the public was entitled to the facts, even though the government attempted to say Mr. Pearson's earlier statements were "a figment of my imagination."

The document released by Mr. Pearson Tuesday night, to the applause of his audience, was a table of statistics headed, "Principal Components of the Labor Market."

They reviewed unemployment in Canada from 1919 to 1970 — all the figures beyond this year being labelled as "projected."

DOLLAR DEVALUATION

Canada 'Smeared' By Pearson—PM

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

THREE RIVERS, Que.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker angrily charged Liberal leader Pearson with deliberately striking a blow at the financial integrity of Canada for purely political gain.

He levelled the charge when he addressed a crowd of over 2,000 here Tuesday, and vigorously denounced statements made Monday at Kitchener on Canada's dollar pegging policy by Mr. Pearson. The statements were "without truth whatsoever," snapped the prime minister.

He claimed the Liberal leader was making such statements because he and his party were becoming desperate in the campaign. They were now aware—in the past four days—that they were losing the election, according to Mr. Diefenbaker.

"I don't care what a man says in political criticism, but to strike a blow at the financial integrity of Canada, internationally and nationally, is unworthy of any leader of a great party."

"Canada should not be smeared in this manner," he shouted. His voice carried over the noise in the Three Rivers Armories. The crowd had been "warmed-up" by advance speeches in French by Transport Minister Leon Balcer and Defence Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley.

CROWD RESPONDS

It was a hot evening. The temperature inside the building was well above 80 degrees. The prime minister spoke for 25 minutes, 10 minutes in French. The crowd responded to both his English and French with cheers and applause.

A typical French-Canadian political meeting, it was noisy, boisterous and full of fire. There were bands and marching majorettes preceding the speeches. Loudspeakers boomed the voices of the speakers into the streets where a crowd of around 400 unable to get into the jammed hall, milled around outside in the warm evening air.

The prime minister's charges against Mr. Pearson of "sneering" were "without truth whatsoever," snapped the prime minister.

PARLEY TOLD:

'Could Hide A-Arms Under Seats'

GENEVA (Reuters) — Disarmament negotiators were told today that nuclear weapons now are so small that enough of them can be hidden in one room to wipe out many of the world's capitals.

British delegate Joseph Godber told the 17-nation disarmament conference "a strategic nuclear warhead can now be contained in a cylinder some five feet long and two feet in diameter."

Godber said: "Enough of these weapons could therefore be concealed in this very council chamber—in the walls, in the ceiling, under the banks of seats around us—to annihilate the capital cities of all countries represented in this conference and to annihilate them several times over."

Godber said there would always be enough Uranium 235 in existence to be put into a fast reactor to make several weapons—and both East and West have such reactors.

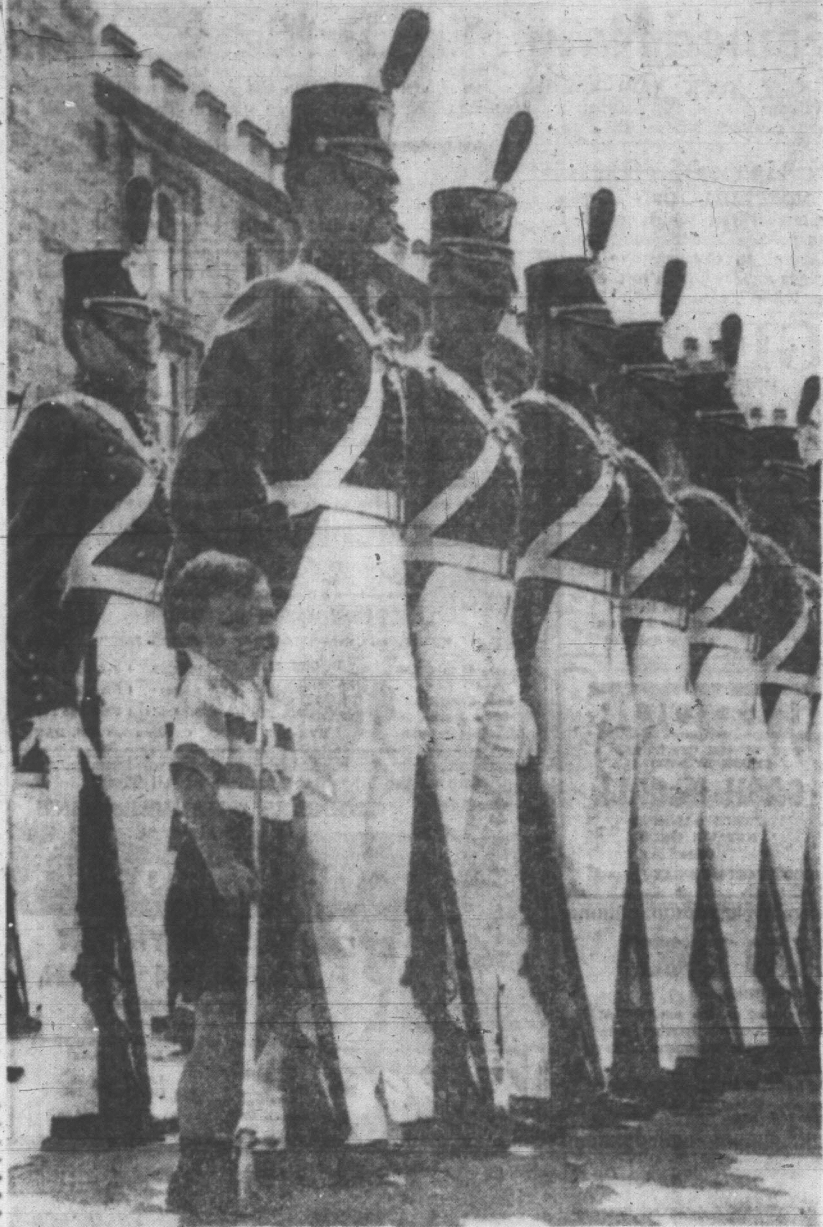

He said the most important problem facing the conference is the difficulty of verifying the abolition of nuclear weapons. Yet, he said, under Soviet proposals, the end of the first stage of disarmament would see stocks of nuclear warheads untouched.

The Soviet plan, he said, provides for total elimination of nuclear delivery vehicles in the first stage—but Russia possesses for example more than 100 TU-16 civil airliners modelled on the TU-16 jet bomber and they could be rapidly transformed for military use.

He admitted the West would do the same but said it would be harder since its airliners were originally designed as civilian planes and had no bomber originals.

Owners Can Afford More Say Loggers

COURTENAY—"The booming logging industry can well afford a more realistic pay increase than that recommended by industrial commissioner Dr. Neil Perry."

This is the opinion of local officials of the International Woodworkers of America after study of Dr. Perry's wage negotiations recommendation. The suggestion calls for a two-year contract with an eight cents per hour increase effective this year and a further eight cents in 1963.

PAY CUTS

Recommendations also were made for an increase in shift work hours and pay cuts for safety members.

Local 1-363 officials contend that the suggestions put forth do not include arrangements for settling outstanding issues and have recommended that their members reject the proposal.

"Our members will vote on acceptance of the recommendations this week after a factual report has been received from members of the negotiating committee," said a union official.

The Courtenay local of the IWA represents more than 1,000 workers from Parksville to Kelsey Bay.

Teachers' Negotiations Start In Nanaimo June 23

Members of the Vancouver Island branch of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association are to meet teachers' representatives in Nanaimo on June 23 to start 1963 negotiations.

The meeting will arrange zone negotiations of salaries. Actual salary negotiations will start when schools reopen in the fall. Vancouver Island was one of two areas in the province which conducted zone negotiations last year.

In requesting zone negotiations again the teachers noted last year's meetings were carried out amicably and with dignity, in contrast to previous years.

OAS MEMBERS CAPTURED IN RAID ON HIDEOUT

ALGIERS (UPI)—French security forces raided a farm house 18 miles south of Algiers today and captured 17 members of the terrorist secret army organization.

The terrorist-hideout was pinpointed by three OAS suspects arrested previously. The security forces found seven French army deserters among the 17 arrested, and picked up a small arsenal of stolen weapons.

While the OAS truce continued, police found two murdered Europeans in the Algiers suburb of Guyotville this morning. It was believed they were former OAS men who had been "executed" by the terrorist organization.

Police said the three children were killed when thrown from the car in the impact.

The bodies of the children had been removed from the scene just shortly before Mrs. Knaggs happened by. She recognized the family car, ran screaming toward it and collapsed after seeing her husband in the twisted wreckage and the tattered remnants of her children's clothing on the road.

Friends of the family said the Knaggs had only recently purchased the car to take a trip to Winnipeg to attend a relative's wedding there.

LAOS RIGHTIST AGREES TO COALITION MEETING

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Rightwing Premier Prince Boun Oum told his cabinet today he will attend a meeting with pro-Communist and neutralist leaders Thursday to form a coalition government.

A government spokesman said the cabinet decided to send Deputy Premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan with him to the meeting, which may end the leftist-rightist civil war in Laos.

The pro-Communist Pathet Lao delegation will be headed by Prince Souphanouvong and the neutralists by his half-brother, Prince Souvanna Phouma, widely expected to be the premier of any coalition government.

Luxury?

No ma'am. Not if you care about softness. "Fleecy" in your rinse water makes a big difference. Soft things puff up with pride and everything irons a whole lot easier because there are less wrinkles. Nylons and synthetics don't cling any more either. So why not give "Fleecy" a whirl in your next rinse and see if you don't agree. "Fleecy" Fabric Softener is a nice necessity for people who care.
